Swainson Nephew's File Disappears

COLDWATER, Mich. (AP) — Records involving charges against a nephew of embattled Michigan Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson have disappeared, Branch County authorities disclosed Wednesday. Prosecutor J. Richard Colbeck said he did not know what had happened to the missing file, and said he had asked for a special investigation.

Meanwhile, the county board of commissioners has appointed a special committee to determine if Colbeck is fit to remain in office. Colbeck said records from the case involving Kenneth W. Wilson are missing from the prosecutor's office at the courthouse.

Colbeck said the discovery occurred last Thursday when he was interviewed by officials of the U.S. Organized Crime Strike Force which is investigating a bribery accusation against Swainson. The prosecutor said a private letter from Swainson asking about the case against Wilson, a relative, also was missing.

He said a thorough search of his files failed to disclose the missing material. "It is not a question of them being misfiled. They are not here," Colbeck said.

However, Eric Goodwin, special prosecutor in the case, said he thought the missing file had been located but added he didn't "want to go into" its location. Wilson is a son of Swainson's sister-in-law, Velma Swainson of Leisure City, Fla. He was arrested last May along with two other men. They were charged by Union City police with possession of burglary tools and carrying concealed weapons.

At the time, Colbeck was under investigation by a State Bar grievance panel on charges of failing to file income tax returns. He drew a 20-day suspension from the panel. Swainson said he talked to Branch County authorities about Wilson only as a relative and not in any official capacity.

Charges were eventually dropped against all three men. Wilson, however, is under indictment by a federal grand jury on charges of carrying an unregistered weapon. He is scheduled for arraignment today in Grand Rapids. County Commissioner John Kesslar, a member of the county board committee, said state Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has been asked to assist in the investigation.

Kessler siad the committee will investigate "allegations that Colbeck has gambling debts, has been bouncing checks and that his marital problems are affecting his performance, this Swainson thing, and in short to determine whether we should get rid of him or clear his name." Colbeck refused to comment on the allegations.

EIGHT YEARS OF PENNIES: Mrs. Emil (Shirley) Barg of Buchanan surprised Peoples State bank in St. Joseph Wednesday with plastic Snoopy figure stuffed with pennies she had saved over the past eight years. Even though Snoopy was on casters (photo at left), Mrs. Barg needed her husband's help to get heavy load into bank, where pennies were transferred into bags (above) and later counted. There were 28,623 pennies — $286.23 — which the Bargs plan to use as down payment for swimming pool at their home. Both the Bargs work at Auto Specialties in St. Joseph. (Staff photos)

U.S. Productivity Takes Sharpest Leap In History

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government index designed to anticipate the course of the economy showed its sharpest increase in history last month, the Commerce Department said today, providing a preliminary signal that the recession is at or near its end. The department said its composite index of leading indicators, released for the first time in a new form intended to eliminate the distortions of inflation, jumped 4.2 per cent in April and showed a one per cent rise in March.

The April rise surpassed the previous record monthly jump of 3 per cent in June, 1958. It was the first time since February and March of last year that the index has risen for two months in a row. The increases reversed 11 consecutive months of decline. A historical compilation of the indicator shows it has anticipated recovery from the past three recessions by one or two months.

Jobless Will Get Pay Hike Within Week

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A logjam over unemployment compensation between legislators and the governor has been broken, with increased benefits for some 450,000 unemployed workers expected to become law next week.

The two-week snag over a bill providing up to $30 more a week came unstuck Wednesday when Gov. William Milliken and Democratic leaders compromised. The agreement averts a promised Milliken veto of the bill, now on his desk.

The legislature is expected to recall the bill today in order to alter it to meet compromise guidelines. Leaders predicted it would be back on the governor's desk by Tuesday, assuming they can sell it to their respective parties.

Increased benefits may be received a week or so after the bill becomes law, some lawmakers estimated.

Milliken had criticized the Democratic-passed bill as far too costly for business, and had until Friday to veto it or let it become law automatically. He proposed his own version to drastically cut costs.

Milliken said the compromise would cut $102 million a year off the original bill, which he said would cost $241 million annually.

The compromise would:

—Increase benefits by up to $30 a week for those out of work for up to 39 weeks. Benefits would be boosted from 55 to 60 per cent of the worker's former average wage.

—Increase from the present weekly maximum payment of $106 to $136 for any worker, no matter what his former weekly wage.

—Increase the wage base on which employers pay compensation tax from $4,200 to $5,400.

—Increase from six to 13 weeks the time a a worker fired for misconduct must wait to get benefits.

—Retain the present 12-week disqualification for a worker fired for sabotage or theft costing less than $25.

—Increase from 12 weeks to total disqualification for a worker fired for sabotage or theft costing more than $25, or for physical assault.

—Increase from six to 13 weeks, effective Dec. 1, the disqualification time for a worker who voluntarily quits his job.

Milliken abandoned his proposal of a sliding scale for

Pot-Laden Plane Crashes; Two Die

ROCKWOOD, Tenn.(AP) — A twin-engine Lockheed Lodestar carrying an estimated 200 pounds of marijuana crashed and burned near this rural east Tennessee town early today, killing two people, authorities said.

"Two bodies were found in the wreckage and they were burned beyond recognition," a spokesman for the Roane County Sheriff's Department said. "The plane was a total loss."

Chuck Alcorn, an investigator for the sheriff's department, estimated the marijuana cargo at about 200 pounds.

"It's the most I've seen at one time," he said. "It was packaged in plastic bags."

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman in Atlanta said the plane's origin and destination were not known. "No flight plan was filed," an official said.

Officials said the two victims were the only people aboard the plane.

The plane crashed and burned about half mile west of the Rockwood Municipal Airport at 3:20 a.m. deputies said. Rockwood is located about 40 miles west of Knoxville.

Officals did not know the cause of the crash but they quoted residents in the area as saying they heard two explosions.

Ford Tackles Cyprus Question

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

RUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — President Ford scored no immediate success today as he launched a new search for a Cyprus settlement.

Ford met separately at the U.S. ambassador's residence here with the premiers of Greece and Turkey, the two parties to the nine-month-old Cyprus dispute.

"You can't say that progress was made in these meetings," Asst. Secretary of State Arthur Hartman told newsmen afterward.

Hartman said any progress would have to await direct Greek-Turkish discussions here Saturday.

Hartman said Ford was "very careful not to put forward any suggestions" of his own for a possible Cyprus accord. The State Department official said the president merely emphasized "the will of the United States to be as helpful as possible in helping them."

After five hours of sleep, Ford followed a marathon schedule during his first full day as president on European soil.

In addition to meeting with the Greek and Turkish leaders, he had conferences with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany and the premiers of Luxembourg, Denmark and Portugal.

All these meetings came before the opening of NATO summit meeting.

U.S. officials said Ford was hopeful he could help lay the groundwork for a Cyprus settlement during separate talks with Premier Constantine Caramanlis of Greece and Premier Suleyman Demirel of Turkey.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was to meet with the Greek and Turkish foreign ministers. American informants said that if the talks go the way Kissinger expects, a settlement of the long and bitter dispute over the division of the island in the eastern Mediterranean may finally be in sight. The two sides were said to seem reconciled, but each was reported reluctant to make a major concession to the other.

Kissinger was reported hopeful that even if no settlement can be reached yet, sufficient progress will be made to encourage the U.S. House of Representatives to approve the legislation resuming U.S. military aid to Turkey. Congress suspended such aid because of the use of American-supplied arms in the Turkish invasion of Cyprus last summer, but the Senate has approved the resumption.

Welfare Cheat Gets Sentence, Lecture

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Niles woman who pleaded guilty in Berrien circuit court to welfare fraud under $500 not only got two years probation, a fine, and an order to make restitution, but a stern lecture on welfare cheating from Judge Chester J. Byrns.

Sentenced by Byrns was Naomi Wilson, 38, of 1524 Michigan avenue, Niles. In addition to probation, she was assessed fine and costs of $150, and ordered to make restitution of $1,576 to the Michigan Department of Social Services.

The woman continued to collect welfare from October, 1971, to April, 1975, even though she was earning $110 per week at job in Niles. She was accused of failing to report the extra income.

"Welfare cheating is a heinous crime," Byrns told her, because "it is taking from those who really need it — and there are people who really need it in this country and community.

The judge said many people with meager incomes make their own way and don't ask for help, and labelled welfare fraud an "unfair burden on people who pay their taxes."

"There is nothing wrong with welfare — there are people who need it. But for one who does not need it because she has other income an yet still takes it, is very dishonest," Byrns noted.

"If everybody did that they would destroy the whole social system," he added. Byrns told her, however, that he felt she could best be rehabilitated by not being confined, thus the probationary period.

In other court actions, Judge Julian Hughes placed a woman on two years probation for attempted delivery of heroin.

Placed on probation, and ordered to continue her education

Ford Jumps At Petroleum Gap

Taking a leaf from Harry Truman's famous castigation of the legislative branch as a do-nothing Congress, President Ford proclaimed Tuesday night his anticipated $1 per barrel tariff increase on foreign petroleum imports.

He devoted much of his radio-TV broadcast to painting the current Congress as 3-D (debate, dawdle and delay).

The increase, effective on Sunday, is the second in a $2 discretionary range. The first $1 raise took effect on February 1.

When Congress returns from its 10-day Memorial weekend and Ford gets back from his European trip, the White House expects to ask the legislature to decontrol domestic oil prices.

This is a needlessly complicated price control system, one which only the producers actually understand and who have profited by it in the face of Congressional action to ease the consuming public's pocketbook. Substantially, it puts a cap on petroleum taken from wells sunk prior to a 1973 control order but allows a free market pricing on output brought in since that time.

Along with a five-year phasing out of the depletion allowance for income tax purposes, the effect has been to limit production of this so called new oil and to stimulate the very thing which nobody wants, namely heavier importation of foreign oil.

The latest tariff hike is expected to raise gasoline prices at the pump by at least two cents a gallon. A like result, though probably not in as sizeable a degree, will be to raise the cost for fuel oil and petrochemicals upon which the plastics and fertilizer industries are so heavily dependent.

That the tariff boost will discourage consumption is doubtful.

It is, however, the only weapon available to the Administration to stir Congress into a practical system to meet U.S. energy requirements.

Thus far, the Congressional approach to the energy problem has been the negativism of a traffic light on red.

The automotive industry is under pressure to come out with an engine consuming less fuel than present models, and great concern is given to the retail cost of all fossil fuels, coal, oil and natural gas. The latter's theory, the same evinced by Ford the other day, is to peg the price high enough to discourage undue consumption but not so exorbitant as to throw everything into another inflationary spiral.

Nothing, though, is being thought of to encourage the production of energy.

The U.S. is far from being self sufficient in a frightening range of critical raw materials. It does, however, have vast reserves in fossil fuels which through new exploration and reworking of older fields could free the country from the fear of what foreign producers may do next.

The technology for achieving this independence is already at hand for natural gas and coal and is close to readiness for oil.

It waits only on a more sensible application of the tax and environmental laws to go to work.

Little wonder Ford expressed impatience with that branch of the government in which he obtained his first political footing.

The energy crunch would disappear overnight if only Congress would do what it least likes to do — think.

Lawnmower Does All The Work

Robot farm tractors have been developed that automatically raise or lower their plow blades to insure even, straight furrows. Similarly, unmanned cultivators use feelers connected to servomotors to steer themselves unerringly between crop rows, and automatic lawnmowers following magnetic paths buried in the ground trim large expanses of lawn, then roll back to storage sheds and turn themselves off.

So how come it's so hard to make money farming and so easy to let your grass get too high?

An Ulterior Motive Behind White House Prom?

The type of entertainment provided at the White House on formal occasions affords a glimpse into the personality of the family that lives there. The Dwight D. Eisenhowers, for example, became firmly linked in the public mind with Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians — a band whose arrangements were as bland and cautious as the President's domestic policies. The John F. Kennedys, with their cultural aspirations, are best remembered for inviting Pablo Casals to play his cello in the East Room.

As for the current occupants of the White House, it is plain to see that the Gerald R. Fords are partial to dancers. Guests at the various state dinners given by the Fords have included such performers as Fred Astaire, Edward Villella and Ann-Margret. And the Fords are not just idle spectators. They often remain on the dance floor long after their guests of honor have departed. Mrs. Ford's fondness for dance is easy to understand, for she once studied under Martha Graham and gave serious thought to a professional career.

It was perhaps both fitting and inevitable, then, that the Fords agreed to let their daughter Susan hold her high school senior prom in the White House. Believed to be the first event of its kind in the executive mansion, the prom is scheduled for Saturday, May 31. For Susan's guests, a gala evening at the White House is sure to be a memorable occasion. For the President and First Lady, it will eliminate one potential worry: They won't have to be checking their watches, wondering when Susan will be home.

How Many Lives Has Booze Taken?

Since 1926, earthquakes have killed nearly 500,000 people and caused $10,000 million in property damage. An estimated 13 million have been killed by quakes in the last 4,000 years.

Wonder if anyone ever figured out how many lives and how much property have been claimed by booze in the same period of time?

SHE DOESN'T LIKE NO-FAULT INSURANCE

Editor,

I wonder how many of you people know just how good this no-fault insurance is. I know of a husband and wife whose cars were hit in the rear end two times each. All four times they were going to or coming from work and were legally stopped for traffic or traffic light. They have duplicate copies of the police reports citing the other drivers as being at fault. This all happened within one and one half years. Now their insurance company tells them they have no choice but to cancel their policy. I could understand this had they caused the accidents. As the result, they will have to go on high risk insurance.

Now this could happen to you and I, we need our old way of insurance back. All I can say is leave your car in the garage or put wings on it so you can take to the air when there is no place to go to avoid being hit from behind, cause your no-fault insurance sure won't be there to protect you.

MEMORIAL DAY PHOTOGRAPH PRAISED

Editor,

It was a very stirring moment to see the picture of Lyle Furlong in his World War I uniform gracing the front page of The Herald-Palladium Saturday night.

Your photographer honored a very worthy man by using his portrait thusly — it will bring back memories for many people on this Memorial Day. We would certainly hope that your photographer might be rewarded for his efforts should he enter this photograph in a national exhibit or contest. It was very well done and showed the courage, faith and patriotism of an elderly gentlemen whom many of us know and love.

UNCLE SAM A 'TERMINAL CASE'

Editor,

An obituary.

Being officially Memorial Day, I find it proper to write an obituary for Uncle Sam, the Republic of the United States.

Watergate was the political fester breaking through the skin of Uncle Sam from a near terminal cancerous condition.

The diagnosis dates the infection back to the 1913 enactment of the Federal Reserve Act, and the Federal Income Tax Act. The former transferred the constitutional duty "to coin money, regulate the value thereof" (see Article 1, Sec. 8 of the Constitution), from Congress to International Banker Swindlers who succeeded in swapping our nation's substance, (Gold, Silver and debt-free Treasury) for ersatz coin, counterfeit Dollars and billions of debt.

The Federal Income Tax made Americans unwitting underwriters of perpetual wars — hot and cold — the welfare state, financial suckers for foreign aid, including enemies, all prospering International Bankers at the expense of the dupes.

Uncle Sam is a terminal case, so ready for the coffin made in the Soviet Union and Red China.

Please notify world nations to serve as pallbearers and let Democrats and Republicans weep, for they killed Uncle.

God save the Republic for our maladministration sure doesn't care to.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —

One of the finest baseball teams in Benton Harbor high school history ended a perfect season in perfect fashion at Muskegon Friday afternoon by defeating Muskegon 6-0 to win a second straight Lake Michigan Athletic Conference championship. It was the 12th victory of the season for coach Al Ratcliff's undefeated Tigers, running their two-year winning streak to 22 games, and it was achieved with a typical combination of robust hitting, strong pitching and slick defensive work in the field.

Completed and open! That, in one brief sentence, is today's news of the new 8-story Hotel Vincent in Benton Harbor. Every floor will shine with light. Far up on the roof, more than a hundred feet above the sidewalk's lowly level, two giant electric signs will blaze. In words of fire they will spell out the name — H-O-T-E-L V-I-N-C-E-N-T. W.S. Bastar has also announced plans to build a ten story bathhouse annex next to the Vincent! An architect is now working on plans for the half million dollar addition which will eclipse anything of its kind in this part of Michigan. The plan for the annex is not new. It is part of the original scheme of the promoter. The hotel, Mr. Baster points out, is merely the first unit of his building project. The annex, of course, means another bathhouse for Benton Harbor. It will be a bathhouse calculated to add to Benton Harbor's fame as a mineral bath center. The hotel's first guests tonight will be Chicago members of the Michicago club. Formal opening of the hotel for Benton Harbor is going to be next Thursday evening, June 4.

Among a netful of small fry, Nichols & Son, fishermen, one day last week captured a 55-pound carp and a 120-pound sturgeon off the mouth of a small creek that empties into Lake Michigan near the foot of Thunder mountain. This carp is probably the largest specimen of that family ever taken from the lakes, and was secured by W.S. Hallman for his private pond on his farm in West Coloma.

We Fail To Read The Fine Print

WASHINGTON — We as a nation have a passion for written treaties, pacts and memoranda of understanding. We have a simplistic belief that something agreed to on paper will stand — and that our interpretation of the words will be followed.

We settle problems piecemeal, without thought as to where these solutions lead us in other fields and in other areas of the world. In our desire for settlements we don't look carefully at the teeth of the horse offered us in the deal.

We repeatedly forget that treaties without credible means of enforcement are not worth the paper they are written on. And that there is little chance of the words of a treaty being followed by Communist or other totalitarian regimes unless we demonstrate we are willing and able to put the enforcement provisions into effect.

In preparing for treaty talks, we are lazy and do not do our homework. We are thus not prepared to intelligently handle shifts proposed by the other side.

We easily tire and give in under the stalling tactics and lengthy hard bargaining of our adversaries — especially when the men on the other side of the table are skilled Communist dialecticians, willing to argue for years over fine points that make the difference between an even-handed treaty and one loaded in their favor.

We usually give in, too, on the matter of strict inspections, which we start out demanding in the certain knowledge that without inspections, particularly on-site, there is no way of determining for certain whether the adversary is cheating. Data papers can be fudged. Technical information can be manipulated. Structures and their works can be camouflaged to hide their true purpose. Short of on-site inspections there is no way to prove skillful violations even if we have the photographs or other information which convince us of cheating.

We have given in on this matter of effective inspection in the strategic arms limitation agreements, and in the treaties on Vietnam, Korea, Laos — in fact in every treaty we have signed with Communist states, large and small. Even where inspection is provided on paper, there have been loopholes which enabled the Communists to effectively bar teams charged with this duty.

We are not very careful in the language we agree to in treaties. We sign one, then another and still another containing words, phrases and paragraphs so vague they can be interpreted in one way by us and another way by the other party. There is some evidence that Henry Kissinger glories in his ability to work out this type of arrangement, making everyone happy — happy that is, for awhile, until violations begin to appear. These violations of course increase suspicions and tensions, as each side accuses the other of deceit.

We were so stupid, for example, as to sign a treaty with the Russians on strategic arms limiting the increase in silo size to 15 per cent, without defining whether we were talking about one dimension or two — a slip which makes it possible for the Russians, if they will, to increase the size of their missiles by 50 per cent, negating the major possible value of the treaty. It did no good for a secretary of defense to then say we interpreted the treaty as meaning the allowable increase could only be in one dimension. The damage had already been done.

New York Gains Primary Clout

WASHINGTON — For the first time in modern political history, New York State voters may have a major — and perhaps even decisive — voice next year in selecting the Democratic Presidential candidate.

And they may have similar power over the GOP candidate, if President Ford does not run or faces a primary challenger.

The major problem has been that the New York Presidential primary has been held in June, a date so late in the Presidential game as to be of limited psychological impact. This has led, in turn, to a certain degree of inattention from serious Presidential candidates, which then permits local party organizations and favorite son candidates going nowhere to dominate the show.

It has also been especially prone to mishap. George McGovern, for instance, won most of New York's Democratic delegates in 1972 primarily because Hubert Humphrey's campaign was so botched-up he didn't get his delegates registerd in time for the filing deadline. Gene McCarthy won the delegation in 1968 because the likely winner of the primary, Robert Kennedy, had been murdered shortly before.

Things, however, are about to change in New York. The primary next year will suddenly acquire new clout, since it will be held on April 6, the same day as the influential Wisconsin primary. About a year ago, GOP Gov. Malcolm Wilson unobtrusively slipped through the legislature a measure to move the primary forward from June to April.

The shift was designed to give ex-Gov. Nelson Rockefeller an early testing-ground on friendly territory against other potential 1976 GOP Presidential candidates. Rockefeller's use of an early primary now appears, however, to have vanished with his appointment to the Vice Presidency.

Democratic Gov. Hugh Carey, who defeated Wilson last fall and envisions himself as a New York favorite son candidate, was unhappy about the new primary date. He tried to push it back to its original date. But last week he acknowledged defeat and gave up. So April is it.

The reaction of the major Democratic Presidential candidates was mixed. The increased importance of New York, with its rich bag of 274 delegate votes, may mean that the impact of other early primaries, particularly the first one in New Hampshire, can be diluted. That might be a plus for someone like Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, who would just as soon not have his fate determined in New England anyway.

But financing a campaign in New York will not be easy. Under the new campaign reform rules, a candidate may not spend more than a total of $10 million for all the primaries. As of now, 30 states have scheduled primaries. But New York is so vast and so expensive that statewide primaries have been costing candidates anything from $3.5 million to $10 million. Any candidate who mounts a competitive race there, in other words, may not have much left in funds for primaries in other states.

Sen. Henry Jackson's campaign advisers say they are going to step up their activity in the state and feel he must enter the primary. Bentsen's associates say he plans to enter also and will open a campaign office in Manhattan in a few weeks. Rep. Morris Udall had originally felt he must enter both New Hampshire and Wisconsin but now is reassessing all the early primaries. Udall already has one big ally in New York, defeated Senate candidate Ramsey Clark, whose contribution list Udall used as the basis for his first fund-raising direct mail appeal.

And what about Gov. George Wallace? Some political observers feel he might do very well, particularly upstate.

Sodus Fruit Exchange Sale Is Announced

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Purchase of the Sodus Fruit Exchange division of United Foods at Sodus by Jeno's, Inc., of Duluth, Minn., was announced Wednesday in Duluth by Donald G. Wirtanen, president and chief operating officer of Jeno's.

Jeno's, identified as "America's leading frozen pizza maker", broke off negotiations for the Sodus fruit processing plant in March when United Foods was unable to deliver a merchantible title by a specified date.

Terms of the now-completed transaction were not disclosed. It was announced the acquisition includes the 335,000-square-foot plant in Sodus, all its food processing equipment, and some of the inventory from current operations.

Wirtanen said the Sodus plant will be used to produce Jeno's "Wilderness" brand of canned fruit pie fillings, one of its major products besides frozen pizzas. Jeno's for a number of years has purchased the bulk of the fruit that went into its pie filling line in southwestern Michigan.

Production of Wilderness brand pie fillings will begin next Jan. 1 at the Sodus plant. A Jeno's spokesman indicated that fruit processing will continue as usual through this summer and fall.

Wirtanen said acquisition of the Sodus Fruit Exchange will enable his firm to expand its production to include fresh and frozen fruit processing and packing, to enter the area of fruit juice processing, and to continue packing frozen fruit in bulk containers for the institutional market.

He added that the farm supply and hardware service center operated for growers of the area will be expanded.

The Jeno president appointed Harold Runningn vice president for purchasing, to head a project team that will launch the firm's operations in its new Michigan plant.

"There will be no layoffs or employe terminations in either our Duluth-Superior or Sodus operations," Wirtanen stated.

Sodus Fruit Exchange was founded in 1926 as a cooperative and expanded, despite a serious fire in 1934. The exchange was managed from 1929 to 1960 by the late Carl Steimle, and then by his son, Earl Steimle, until the exchange was acquired by United Foods in 1966. Sam Ebbert is present general manager.

In some of its peak years, the exchange packed as much as 20 million pounds on frozen fruit.

Police Charge 5 Students With Niles Bus Vandalism

NILES — Niles police have arrested five high school students in connection with vandalism to the school district's buses earlier this week.

Police identified the five students arrested on charges of malicious destruction as Terry Wisler, 18, James Taylor, III, 18, Richard Gessinger, 17, Robert Davies, 17, and Richard Scamehoorn, 18, all of Niles.

Officers said the five were arrested Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. All five were released without bond pending further investigation.

The five students, seniors and juniors at the high school, have been suspended from classes pending an investigation by the school, school officials told police.

Supt. William Fairman said this morning that new parts for the buses and labor needed to replace them was estimated at $256. He said that an additional $611 was lost because bus drivers will still be paid even though the buses were not on the road Tuesday.

Vandalism to the buses sometime over the three-day Memorial Day holiday forced school officials to cancel school bus runs for Tuesday.

Some 3,000 of the district's 6,300 students ride buses and missed school because of the vandalism.

Distributor caps and ignition wires were pulled from engine compartments of nearly all the district's 30 buses parked in the bus parking lot.

Crash Hospitalizes Young BH Woman

A Benton Harbor woman was listed in "fair" condition today at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, after she received head injuries in a one-car accident Wednesday night.

Jeanne Buford, 18, of 314 Brunson avenue, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, William, 24, which hit a tree in an alley in the 800 block between Superior street and Columbus avenue.

Buford was treated and released from Mercy as was another passenger, Miriam Rollins, 16, of 562 Broadway avenue, Benton Harbor. Buford was ticketed for careless driving by Benton Harbor police.

In other accidents Wednesday:

—Phillip Driver, 25, of 127 Elmside road, Benton township, was treated for cuts and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, after his trail bike spilled in Pipestone township.

—Craig Lerke, 16, of 419 LaSalle avenue, St. Joseph, sought his own treatment for minor cuts after a motorcycle accident on Nash drive near Crestview drive, St. Joseph township.

Berrien Arts Center To Hold Open House

The Berrien County Performing Arts center, which has about 100 youngsters enrolled in dance, theater, band and Piano classes, will hold an open house for the public Monday from 3 to 5 p.m.

The program, which provides lessons at Suite 201 of the N.F. Kay Building, 145 West Main street, Benton Harbor, operates under Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds, under sponsorship of the Neighborhood Youth Corps. The pilot program received $12,000 in CETA funds to operate from April 14 to June 15.

There are three people manning the staff of the Performing Arts center. They include Trudy Walker, director and theater instructor; Roger Voelker, music instructor, and Marina Shoemaker, dance instructor.

$30,000 Grant Approved For BH

The City of Benton Harbor has received approval of a $30,000 grant from the Economic Development Agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce to staff the city's office of economic development, Cong. Edward Hutchinson's office announced today.

The grant, according to Les Johnson, city administrative analyst, will be used to hire a director, secretary, and will be used for administrative costs. The federal grant is matched with $10,000 from the general fund of the city's 1975-1976 budget.

The city's office of economic development was established by commission ordinance in 1973 to promote development of new and existing business and industry in the city and to act as a liasion between local businesses and local, state and federal governmental agencies.

The city manager has acted as director of the office until the grant was approved. The position on director is currently being advertised with a salary range of $16,000 to $20,000.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Hagar Man Struck, Robbed Of Billfold

A Hagar township man was robbed at knifepoint Wednesday after he was struck in the face with a pry bar, state police of the Benton Harbor post said.

Robbed of his billfold containing $70 was Bron Duncan, 3139 Erie. He told officers two unidentified men entered his home while he was sleeping. His injuries did not require hospitalization.

Thieves took about $6,200 worth of tools and equipment from Bob's Auto Service, Territorial road at M-140, Bainbridge township.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said the break-in occurred late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Other thefts reported to sheriff's deputies included silver items valued at between $600-800 from the home of Diane Baker, route 1, Rocky Weed road, Royalton township, and a tape player valued at about $100 from a car belonging to Tom Rennhack, 5508 Notre Dame avenue, Lincoln township.

Benton Harbor police were unable to locate the source of several shots fired early this morning outside the Pandoras bar, 426 Territorial road.

Police said they were called to the bar about 1:30 a.m. when a woman said a man was waiting outside with a gun. A crowd of about 25 persons was gathered outside when the shots were fired and police could find no evidence of where they came from or the target. No one was injured.

A 100-year-old Civil War vintage rifle was among items stolen from the home of Harry Laity, 825 Colfax avenue.

Benton Harbor police said the items valued at $290 were taken late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Hardie Bell, 138 Fredericks street, reported to Benton township police someone broke into his home last week and took a stereo and two speakers valued at $250.

Nine street marker signs and a stop sign were stolen from five locations in St. Joseph, police reported.

The signs, valued at about $230, were apparently taken sometime over the weekend.

DART BUS FOR HANDICAPPED: Specially equipped Dial-A-Ride (DART) bus for handicapped was recently put into operation in Twin Cities. DART drivers Mike Lhotka (posing in wheelchair) and Donald Monte demonstrate how hydraulic lift works. Monte received training for operation of bus equipment and loading of passengers. DART officials request handicapped give 24-hours notice for time they want to picked up. (Staff photo)

PAPAL CROSS, RING SOLD: Model Susan Weins holds a jeweled papal cross and ring that was sold at auction Wednesday in St. Paul, Minn., for $120,000. Left is auctioneer Percy Ross. The buyer was the Commercial State Bank of St. Paul,, Minn., which had been holding the diamond and emerald cross and ring as collateral against loans made to David Morton of Orono, Minn. The bank said Morton defaulted and sold the jewels to cover its loss. The cross and ring belonged to Pope Paul VI. (AP Wirephoto)

Accent Your Assets

The calendar says it's that time of the year again — to think about a new swimsuit for summer.

To find the suit that flatters your figure and gives you a comfortable just-right fit, you'll first want to get to know your figure type study up on the various swimwear styles and then shop with care. That's the advice from the fashion experts at Sears, Roebuck and Co., who offer the following suggestions for the woman off on a swimsuit shopping expedition.

1. Maximize your figure assets, minimize the not-so-good features. For example, if you have a beautiful back, show it off with a suit cut low in back — while you use swimsuit camouflage to make the least of any figure flaws.

2. If you have short legs, look for a suit that's cut high. This same style of suit also does wonders for heavy thighs: via ties at the sides. If you feel that your legs are too long and lanky, try trim shorts with a slightly longer leg.

3. Midriff problem? Keep to a one-piece suit that isn't tightly fitted — a swimdress might be a good bet. Dark colors and/or tiny prints can be flattering.

4. If you're pear-shaped (The American women's number one figure problem) investigate the styles with bras and pants sold separately. You can buy the top that fits and the bottom that fits — just as easily as buying sportswear separates.

5. If you're top-heavy, you'll also want to consider these swimwear separates — available in junior, misses' and foundation departments. A swimsuit top with slight underwiring will give you needed support.

6. Be willing to experiment — perhaps you can wear a bikini or a maillot. You'll never know until you try on the swimsuit. And never buy a suit without that important try-on session.

7. Bend in the suit, stretch in it. Does it gape or bind, does it feel truly comfortable? Check your appearance, if at all possible, in a three-way mirror. If all aspects don't please, it's not the suit for you.

Win National Award

TAYLOR STRING QUARTET

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Taylor String Quartet, composed of Leonard, Lyndon, Lowell and Lucille, children of Dr. and Mrs. Morris Taylor, piano professors in the Andrews university music department, won first place in a national chamber music competition.

Along with this honor, they earned the coveted opportunity to study this summer under the Lenox String Quartet, an internationally renowned group now teaching at the State University of New York in Binghampton.

Following the seminar on June 27, the Taylors will join the New England Youth Ensemble on a tour of Poland. Early next year they plan to give 52 concerts in 10 weeks under professional management.

The Taylors range in age from 13 to 18. Lyndon, the youngest, is finishing seventh grade, and Lucille, the oldest, will complete her freshman year at AU.

The quartet received a $250 award for winning the junior division of the Joseph Fischoff National Chamber Music Competition last month in South Bend.

Outdoor Cooking Hints

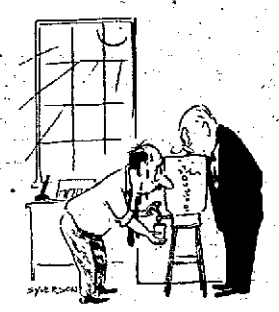
Gather your gear and head for the great outdoors and the good life. Michigan's cookout season is officially here. Shift the cooking scene from your kitchen to the backyard or one of Michigan's beautiful parks. It's easy, exciting and fun.

You can make it safe, too, by storing foods properly while preparing and transporting them. Foods are safest when stored at temperatures above 140 degrees or below 45 degrees, according to food inspection officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Germs tend to thrive in foods held at warm temperatures and not adequately refrigerated.

Family favorites take on new appeal when prepared or served in the open air. Tender beef cooked over coals, savory pork and beans, fresh vegetable kabobs, crisp salad greens and zesty barbecue sauces are mouth-watering delights.

Need some tips for greater beef cooking ease? Marinate less tender cuts, like blade steak or bottom round, in your refrigerator four hours or overnight to make them more flavorful. To make a tangy marinade, combine one chopped onion, one cup catsup, one-third cup vinegar, two tablespoons brown sugar, two teaspoons salt, crushed garlic clove, bay leaf and dash of hot pepper sauce in a saucepan. Cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool, then pour over the steak in a utility dish or plastic bag and refrigerate.

While charcoal-broiled burgers are always a treat, you may want to use versatile ground beef for such tasty picnic dishes as spicy tacos or miniature meat loaves.



NO WONDER-
NO AWNINGS!

Sun glare drives office staffs to drink, and time's a-wasted. But that's not all. When windows are exposed to hot summer sun, money's wasted on air conditioning because units have to work harder than they should. What's more, precious energy is wasted at a time when black-outs threaten us all. Canvas awnings keep sun heat outside, reduce room temperatures 8 to 15 degrees, and save you enough money to pay for the awnings themselves. Help is near. Just call us.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Artificial Insemination

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married eight years. We've been trying without success for at least three years to have a child. My gynecologist suggested that my husband have a sperm test. Reluctantly, he agreed. The results showed he has a very low sperm count and could probably never get me pregnant.

I've heard about artificial insemination and need to know a few things. First: Does it REALLY work? Second: Is sexual intercourse involved? Third: How does a couple go about picking the donor? Fourth: What if the child is born deformed? Would we have to keep it? Please answer. — Empty Cradle In Penn.

Dear E.C.: Yes, artificial insemination really works. There are approximately 250,000 people alive today who were conceived that way. No intercourse is involved. The sperm is injected with a syringe.

The couple doesn't select the donor — the doctor does. Usually it's a medical student.

There's always a chance the child will not be normal, but it's very slight. Only two or three per cent of all children born have a congenital deformity. Yes, you would have to keep the child. Once you become pregnant it's your baby.

Sitter Woes

Dear Ann Landers: There's another side to the Babysitter Dilemma. As a young mother who has been looking for two years for one conscientious, dependable person to sit with my children, may I speak my piece?

I'd like a sitter who arrives on time, and alone — not with a girlfriend who, between the two of them, will eat everything in sight, including jars of caviar and cans of pineapple.

Is there a sitter alive who can be trusted not to have her boyfriend over the moment we leave the house?

Last-minute cancellations have ruined more than one evening for my husband and me. Why can't a sitter provide a substitute (even her mother) if she is unable to make it at the last moment?

Where is a sitter who will stay off the phone for ten minutes so I can get through if I want to check on my children?

One major complaint from the sitter who wrote to you was that people expect maid service. I don't. But I've had several sitters who expected ME to clean up after THEM. I'm sick of finding potato chips ground into my rugs, pop stains on my kitchen curtains, wet glasses on mahogany tables and ink scribblings on my white telephone.

Please don't suggest a babysitting service. My last four came from there. All they do is demand higher wages. Sign me — Still Looking

ANN LANDERS

Dear S.L.: Have you considered an older woman or a college student? I recommend you try.

Hearing Fading

Dear Ann Landers: I have a friend (my age, early 60s) who is becoming very hard of hearing. He gets annoyed when he attends group meetings and can't hear the speaker. He has gone up to several speakers and told them they "mumble" and suggested that they take elocution lessons. Recently he complained to the custodian of the hall that the audio doesn't work and needs replacing.

It's always someone else's fault. Why can't he accept the fact that he is getting deaf? Should I recommend a hearing aid? — Sioux Falls Reader

Dear Sioux: Go ahead. But I'll bet anything he won't hear you.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens And Their Parents," gives no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I have had a hernia for many years. Recently, I saw an ad in a magazine. It said, "New breakthrough for hernias." Before I buy it, I want to ask your advice. My doctor thinks surgery is necessary to cure the hernia.

Mr. E. R. M., Mich.

Dear Mr. M.:

The exploitation of people with hernias by manufacturers of special gadgets seems to be never-ending. As long as the public will purchase them without the advice of a physician, hucksters will sell them.

In your case, surgery had been advised. This cannot be taken too lightly, because there are definite reasons why some hernias should be operated on, even though they have caused no trouble for years.

Sometimes, a small loop of intestine can become caught in the hernial opening in the groin causing a serious complication. This demands emergency care.

In other instances, a small piece of intestine can move in and out of the opening. When this is present, doctors suggest surgery in order to be sure that intestinal complications do not occur.

There are some excellent trusses which are recommended by doctors to control the weakness or defect in the muscles. When a truss is suggested by a doctor and when the hernia is inspected at regular intervals, only then can the truss be used with safety.

I had an attack of intolerable itching after using an antibiotic that I took previously. Is it possible to become sensitive like this?

Miss V.L., N.C.

Dear Miss L.:

It is well known to doctors that people can become sensitive to drugs and antibiotics that they had previously taken without any strange reaction at all.

Itching of the skin is, in reality, a form of pain. Impulses that pass through the nerves are exactly the same as those that cause severe pain sensations.

It is important to remember the specific drugs and antibiotics that produce unusual reactions. These should be called to the attention of your doctor so that he has a record of them and can substitute others.

Students Perform At GVSC

Two Grand Valley State college students from the twin cities will participate in the GVSC Singers' "10th Annual Swingout" today through Saturday, May 31, at 8:15 p.m.

Andrea Williams of Benton Harbor, and Molly Fisk of St. Joseph will take part in the presentation, which will feature song and dance from Broadway musicals.

Sponsored by the GVSC college of arts and sciences music department, the event will be held in the Louis Armstrong theatre, Calder fine arts center, on the GVSC campus.

Tickets, at $1, will be available at the door, or in advance at the campus center concession.

The program will include the Singers, the Shoestring Dance Company, and The Band, all GVSC student performing groups under the direction of William Beidler, faculty member of the college of arts and sciences music department.

The "Swingout" program is being offered at the school following return from a road tour to Michigan high schools, which included nine performances during April 23-25.

Satisfy Appetites

To satisfy hearty appetites aroused with a tough game of softball, tennis or swimming, fortify juicy frankfurters by topping each with a spicy sloppy Joe mixture.

The sauced ground beef can be prepared at home ahead of time and toted to picneg with the franks and buns.

Lancelot, the peerless knight and bridge player, looked over at wily Mordred sitting West and remarked, "I am going to treat you like a friend for this hand."

Then Lancelot played the four of clubs from Dummy. Gawaine, sitting East, had to play a low club and Mordred's jack was allowed to hold the trick. He led a second club. Lancelot won with his ace and drew trumps with three leads, being careful to win the third one in dummy. Then he played the deuce of diamonds. Gawaine followed with the seven.

Lancelot turned to Mordred and said, "Here's another friendly trick for you." Then he played his nine spot and Mordred made another trick with a jack.

"Gadzooks," said Mordred, "Methinks I like you better when you act as an enemy. 'Tis best I take my ace of spades ere it is lulled to sleep by thy soft words."

So Mordred played his ace of spades and held Lancelot to a contract that would have been beaten if Gawaine had ever been able to gain the lead.

Committee OKs New Business Tax Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to revise the system of business taxes has been modified to make it more acceptable to small business, industries with large labor forces and interstate shippers.

The measure was reported out of the House Taxation Committee, 8-6, Wednesday and will be debated next week by the full House, legislative leaders said.

The legislation is designed to balance Gov. William Milliken's tight 1975-76 budget and to replace eight taxes with a single business income tax.

The measure was considered twice in the taxation committee Wednesday before winning approval. It failed the first time, receiving only six votes.

At a later meeting, Rep. Quincy Hoffman, R-Applegate, changed his vote to favor the bill, and state Rep. Claude Trim, D-Davisburg, voted for it instead of abstaining. Both legislators said they had misgivings about the measure and want to study it further when it comes up for a House vote.

As it stands now, the bill would levy an income tax of 2.05 per cent on a tax base of profits, payroll and interest earned on investments.

Interstate truckers and railroad haulers would pay a tax of only five-tenths of a per cent, however.

Interstate haulers are regulated by the federal government. They argued successfully before the committee that they would be at a competitive disadvantage with carriers in other states if they had to pay the same tax other businesses in Michigan would pay under the bill.

The lower rate will save the shippers an estimated $10 million to $15 million a year, said Gerald Miller, the governor's budget expert.

Labor intensive industries would receive exemptions worth $35 million to $40 million a year that would go into effect when the labor-related portion of the tax base — the payroll — becomes excessive.

Any labor-related cost would not be subject to the tax if it would put the labor portion of the base above 75 per cent.

As an aid to small business, the first $25,000 of the tax base is exempt from the tax, an increase from the $15,000 deduction originally proposed by the governor.

The higher exemption will save business $35 million to $40 million, said Miller.

The lower rate for shippers is being offset by raising the tax for all others from 2 per cent to 2.05 per cent.

The advantages for labor intensive industries and small businesses would be paid for by adding depreciation from existing plants to the tax base.

Under the original proposal, "prior-year" depreciation would have been subtracted from the tax base.

Milliken's business tax would speed up collections of some $180 million in business taxes so that the money can be used to balance the budget for the upcoming fiscal year starting July 1.

The plan involves eight business taxes which bring the state an estimated $800 million in revenue annually.

Opening 'Red Squad' Files Dangerous, Says Trooper

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Police Department says disclosure of the files of its subversives unit could endanger the lives of informants and damage innocent people.

Capt. Gerald Hough told a Senate committee Wednesday that if the Special Investigation Unit is abolished as proposed in pending legislation, all files should be destroyed.

"If opened, there will be people killed," he said, explaining that the disclosure could endanger persons who volunteered information on alleged subversives.

"There are bits and pieces of sometimes unisubstantiated information — they could be damaging to innocent people," he added. "We would rather lose everything rather than lose the confidentiality of the files."

Hough told the Senate Judiciary Committee on Wednesday that the department wants to continue the Special Investigation Unit.

But if the legislature repeals the law which established it, all the confidential files should be destroyed, he insisted.

The committee is considering a bill repealing the 1950 law which authorized State Police to establish the investigation unit — known also as the "Red Squad."

Col. George Halverson said recently the files have been reduced from 100,000 names to 50,000 names. He said only five to 10 per cent of the files relate to criminal activites, with the other information involving unsubstantiated reports of possible subversive or otherwise disruptive activity.

The bill before the Judiciary Committee does not require that files be destroyed. If they are not and the bill becomes law, the information could be made public, Hough warned.

Hough said State Police would lose the ability to anticipate civil disorder and keep track of subversives should the files be destroyed. He said State Police "have been responsible" in their handling of the files.

The ideal situation, Hough said, would be to "purge" the files again, further reducing the number of names included.

Hough said information from the files is released to other law enforcement agencies or state department heads in charge of employment.

A similar bill has been introduced in the House. It also would repeal the law establishing the Special Investigation Unit, but would turn the files over to the Civil Rights Department for six months before they were destroyed.

British Tourist Attacker Gets 150 Years

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — In what he called an attempt to protect society, a circuit judge has sentenced a drifter to 150 years in prison for the near-fatal beating of a British tourist in a Miami bus station.

Although attorneys for Glenn Battle, 22, of Detroit cited medical testimony that he was psychotic and urged that he be committed to a mental hospital, Circuit Judge Arden Seigendorf heeded an investigator's call for a harsh sentence.

Three Candidates Oppose Dismembering BH District

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Three candidates for the Benton Harbor board of education who attended a Meet Your Candidates luncheon Wednesday, answered, "Yes," when asked by a citizen if they supported keeping the district intact.

They are incumbents Edward E. Bentley, board president; and Mrs. Charles (Janet) Scott, treasurer; and newcomer, Mrs. Edgar (Zelma) Morris.

The citizen after the meeting commented that both Bentley and Mrs. Scott earlier joined the majority of the board in voting to allow transfer of Sodus area residents to the Eau Claire district.

Bentley and Mrs. Scott, after the meeting, commented their earlier votes merely registered no opposition to transfer decisions made by the Berrien Intermediate district. They said their votes did not constitute a stand for or against keeping the district intact.

Five candidates are seeking two four-year terms on the board at the June 9 election.

Candidates Lawrence C. Sherman and Mrs. Ruthie Haralson were absent from the luncheon, attended by 45 people at Ramada Inn, Benton township.

Sponsors were an ad hoc citizen committee, headed by Mrs. Mildred Wells. Her son, Nate Wells, Jr., served as moderator.

In brief statements, Bentley said he is "pleased" with changes to streamline the administration in a central office, and plans to expand a program for academically talented youngsters.

Mrs. Scott said she was "excited" over prospects of remodeling all school buildings, providing a 3-mill tax for a building and site fund, also on the June 9 ballot, is approved.

Mrs. Morris called for a board that would encourage more parent involvement in school matters. She said parents are often made to feel unwelcome in schools. Mrs. Morris also said she wants more concern over all youngsters, especially those suspended from classes. She said suspended children are not getting an education and "children without an education are handicapped."

SJ Candidates Tell Policy Stand

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

A lack of communication, which was not in evidence last night, was a major topic during an open panel discussion between two candidates for a seat on the St. Joseph board of education.

Candidates Mrs. Emanuel (Rosalyn) Von Koenig and Joseph Naines presented their qualifications and views on the St. Joseph school system at the program attended by about 50 people at the Milton junior high school.

The third candidate, incumbent William Glines, was unable to attend due to an out-of-town business commitment, according to Ernie Schroeder, who was moderator for the program.

Both candidates present last night noted problems of communication, between school officials themselves and between the school system and the public, as of primary concern.

Both read prepared statements of qualifications and policy stands before fielding prepared and audience questions.

Naines, whose policy stands were presented in summary in Wednesday's edition of this newspaper, holds a PhD degree and has taught at the college level.

Mrs. Von Koenig is a psychologist, has taught college courses and holds an advanced degree in education. In her opening statement she outlined four basic problems with the St. Joseph school system.

— There is too much power in the executive or administrative branch of the system.

— The system has too few women administrators; hence it tends to chauvinism.

— Parents want to be accountable but are not provided with channels for co-ordinating their efforts and concerns with school personnel.

— The master contract the district has with the teachers seems to reward, hence encourage, mediocrity.

Topics ranging from public involvement in the school system to describing a "good" school system were covered during the question and answer session of the near two hour program.

Naines advocated, among other things, that people get involved with the Citizens Advisory council.

Mrs. Von Koenig — "I'd take your remarks more seriously if you'd worked on the Advisory council."

Naines — "I've worked with members of it, but not on it."

Mrs. Von Koenig — "The trouble with the Advisory council is that the board (of education) created it and then ignored it."

At a school board meeting in May Mrs. Von Koenig blasted the council as "the single most useless organization I have ever belonged to."

Naines on the other hand called for increased participation from the Advisory council in his platform and said it is a "latent source of knowledgeable talent in diverse areas.

Checks On Way Out?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans a big step within the next few months toward eliminating the use of checks in making payments to Social Security recipients and other Americans. Beginning in August, it will inaugurate a nationwide program to deposit Social Security payments directly with banks or other financial institutions. The program promises to streamline operations for both the government and the financial institutions while providing a convenience for recipients, officials say. The program, which has been tested in Georgia and Florida, will be voluntary and the government cannot make direct deposits without the recipient's authorization.

Coloring Books Hit

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — If parents want their children to be creative, they shouldn't give them coloring books, says one art expert. "The child needs to develop an individual approach to reality through his art," says Dr. Merle Flannery of the University of Florida's College of Education. "A coloring book suggests that there is a mold he has to fit into." She suggests giving a child a blank piece of paper and crayons, instead of formalized coloring books with objects to be filled in. "It's much better for the child to find out for himself what his visual representation of life is," Dr. Flannery says. "A parent would not ask a 3-year-old to speak a complete sentence, but he would ask the child to draw a house."

Berrien Court Sentences Eight

Two men were bound over to circuit court in Berrien Fifth District court Wednesday, and eight other persons were sentenced.

Bound over were:

Lloyd A. Zech, 61, of Hinchman road, Berrien Springs, charged with resisting arrest May 8 in Oronoko township. He remained free on $1,500 personal recognizance bond.

Wes Calloway, 42, of 1460 Territorial, Benton Harbor, charged with driving while intoxicated, third offense, May 10 in Benton Harbor. He was released on $2,500 bond. He waived examination.

Sentenced were:

Charles A. Klupp, 25, of 1659 Norwood, Benton township, 30 days in jail for eluding police May 24 in Benton township.

Kenneth J. O'Brien, Jr., 46, of 3748 Ridge road, Stevensville, fine and costs of $31 for disorderly person, carrying a gun improperly in a car May 2 in Benton township.

Charles Walls, 48, of 380 Broadway, Benton Harbor, 90 days in jail for simple assault against Josephine Jennings May 19 in Benton township.

William E. Hennessey, 51, of 1600 Lemon Creek road, Baroda, $151 for impaired driving in Lake township May 4.

Willie J. Jackson, 19, of 407 Hilltop, Benton township, and Arnold J. Jackson, 21, of Muskegon, $50 each for use of marijuana.

James E. Jones, 48, of Michigan City, Ind., and Johnnie W. Hopper, 52, of Eloise, Fla., $151 each for driving while intoxicated.

Honorary Degree For Niles Pastor

GREENVILLE, S.C. — The Rev. Harold E. Asire, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Bible church of Niles, was bestowed an honorary doctor of divinity degree by Bob Jones university yesterday, according to school officials here.

Rev. Asire, a 1953 graduate of the fundamentalist university, received the honorary degree during the school's 48th convocation.

Rev. Asire founded the Emmanuel Baptist church in 1967 after he was previously the pastor of the Bertrand Bible church, also located in Niles.

He and his wife, Lois, are the parents of six children and reside at 1525 Ferndale, Niles.

Hearing Asked On Assault Count

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Evan Rodriguez, 22, 206 West Sherwood, Decatur, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court.

Rodriguez was arrested early yesterday morning after Patrick Clawson, 20, St. Charles, Mo., told police that the driver of another auto attempted to run his car off the road just outside the Decatur village limits. Clawson told officers that the other car had been coming in an opposite direction, but turned around and followed him with its lights flashing, chasing him at speeds of up to 65 miles per hour.

Officers said Clawson escaped when he spotted a police car at a nearby gas station, and pulled off the road.

Rodriguez was lodged in the Van Buren county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond. A preliminary examination was scheduled for June 3.

In other cases, Alan Craig Cunningham, 26, 403 North Kalamazoo, Paw Paw, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of larceny in a building. The examination was scheduled for June 3 and Cunningham freed on his own recognizance.

The charge grew out of the reported theft Tuesday of 300 milligrams of Demerol, a pain killer, from a locked cabinet at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, where Cunningham is employed as a nurse.

Richard Lee Martin, 17, Holland, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on a charge of auto theft. The charge grew out of the theft of a car belonging to Warren Frank of Lawton May 20 from a parking lot in Paw Paw. Martin was freed on his own recognizance.

McCord Leaves Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — James W. McCord Jr., first Watergate conspirator to cooperate in the government's investigation that led to Richard M. Nixon's removal from office, is scheduled to become a free man today.

McCord was to leave Allenwood Federal Penitentiary after serving less than four months of a one-to five-year term in the minimum security facility.

The former CIA employe who was the electronics expert with the team that broke into the Democratic headquarters on June 17, 1972, had been in prison for about a month when U.S. Dist. Judge John Sirica cut his sentence to four months on April 28.

At the time of the break-in, McCord was director of security for the Committee to Reelect the President.

Medical System To Be Reviewed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Creation of a statewide emergency medical service system will be reviewed at a public hearing June 4 in Lansing.

An estimated 3,000 lives could be saved annually with a coordinated statewide emergency medical system, said Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids, chairman of the Senate Committee on health, social Services and Retirement.

Suspect Cuts Self With Glass

A young man arrested at the home of his estranged wife was treated for minor injuries he sustained at the Benton township police station early this morning.

Police said Donnie Franks, 22, no address given, butted his Head through a window during questioning and cut himself on the wrist, throat and stomach with a piece of glass before he could be stopped.

After treatment at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, he was booked on a charge of felonious assault at the Berrien jail. Police said they were called to a township home by a woman who told them Franks had taken a shot at the house.

When arrested, Franks had a .22 caliber rifle, police reported.

Police said two people who apparently accompanied Franks to the home were also arrested. Booked on a charge of felonious assault was Martin Moore, 18, of route 4, Territorial road, Benton township. A 16-year-old Benton Harbor boy was released to his parents pending petitioning into juvenile court on the same charge.

Three Charged In Berrien Auto Deaths Go To Court

Three drivers charged with negligent homicide in the wake of three separate fatal traffic accidents in Berrien county this month appeared in Berrien fifth District court yesterday.

Two of the drivers demanded preliminary examinations, and the third was bound over to circuit court.

Ophelia E. Thornton, 53, of 2494 Irving drive, Benton township, demanded examination on a negligent homicide charge resulting from the death of Sally Ann Pflugradt, 11, of Walnut avenue, Coloma, the daughter of Paul and Shirley Pflugradt.

The girl, riding in the rear of a pickup truck driven by her mother May 25 in Watervliet, was killed when the truck was struck by a auto, throwing the girl from the truck. According to the warrant the Thornton car disregarded a stop sign at St. Joseph and Pleasant streets. Mrs. Thornton was freed on $2,000 personal recognizance bond.

William G. Mathieu, 55, of Steger, Ill., demanded examination on a charge of negligent homicide in the Red Arrow highway death of Mrs. Valerie L. Gober, 24, of 9635 Union Pier road, Union Pier, May 4 in Bridgman.

The Mathieu car allegedly turned into the path of a motorcycle on which Mrs. Gober was riding. The cycle hit the car and the woman was killed, it is alleged. Mathieu was freed on $2,000 personal recognizance bond.

Dirk J. VanderDoes, 23, of 4362 Bacon School road, Royalton township, charged with negligent homicide in the crash death of Gregory E. Yerke, 23, of 1201 East Marquette Woods road, Lincoln township, was bound over to circuit court. Yerke, a passenger in the VanderDoes car, was killed May 20 when the car struck a tree in Berrien township. VanderDoes was freed on $1,500 personal recognizance bond.

Kazoo Airport Wins Approval

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State participation in a $1.3 million Kalamazoo Municipal Airport improvement project has won state Aeronautics Commission approval.

The commission said Wednesday it allocated $162,500 in state funds, to be matched by the city of Kalamazoo and supplemented by $975,000 in federal funds. The project involves resurfacing a runway, an apron area, a service road and a taxiway.

WELL TRAVELED CAT: Squeak, above, a Siamese cat, made five trans-Atlantic crossings in two days. He was being shipped from London to Chicago when he got loose in the cargo hold. Squeak was not found until after the jet had gone back to London, then to Montreal, then back to London. Squeak was then fed and sent across the Atlantic for a fifth time and reunited with his owner in Chicago. (AP Wirephoto)

Doctors To Return On Monday

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Hundreds of striking California doctors say they will go back to work Monday, ending a walkout that halted all but emergency care for thousands of patients for almost a month.

Spokesman for physicians joined with state officials Wednesday to announce that movement toward a legislative solution to the malpractice crisis induced the physicians to quit the work stoppage.

The doctors agreed to resume full practice as long as a state ordered insurance pool begins writing malpractice insurance at what they say are affordable rates.

"We are returning to work in good faith ... and will stay on the job," Dr. Seymour Wallace, president of the California Society of Anesthesiologists, told a news conference.

Anesthesiologists in the San Francisco Bay area walked off the job May 1, when Argonaut Insurance Co. imposed huge insurance rate increases. Physicians across the state joined the walkout when other companies announced rate hikes for later this year and at one point nearly 350 of the state's 2,000 anesthesiologists were on strike.

8½c LETTER PROPOSED

Mail Rate Debate Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Months of argument are in prospect over the recommendation that the cost of mailing a letter should be 8½ cents per ounce instead of 10 cents and that rates should be higher for newspapers, magazines, circulars, catalogs and packages.

Meanwhile, the 10-cent first-class rate that was implemented in March 1974 on a temporary basis will remain in effect.

The 8½-cent rate for first class and higher rates in other classes were recommended Wednesday by Administrative Law Judge Seymour Wenner, who presided over extensive hearings that explored what it costs to handle the mail.

His recommendations may be overturned, but his finding that it costs less than 10 cents per ounce to handle a letter — and that first-class mail thus subsidizes other classes — will intensify long-standing debate over postal costs.

Those who argue for lower first-class rates agree with him. Large mailers and others likely to oppose his recommendation that rates for other classes be higher argue that the way the postal expenses are calculated makes it difficult to determine the real costs of first-class mail.

The Postal Rate Commission, set up by Congress to review postal rates in much the same way that public service commissions regulate utilities, contends that it's almost impossible to decide fair rates for each class until the Postal Service changes its cost system.

The Postal Rate Commission estimates that it will be about two months before it decides whether to change Wenner's recommendations.

Once the commission has acted, the nine governors appointed by the President to oversee the operation of the Postal Service may accept its recommendations, ask the commission to reconsider, or seek a review in federal court. By unanimous vote, all nine governors could also put into effect a rate schedule different from what the commission recommends.

Even after the present case is resolved, the "final" rate might not last longer than 180 days. The Postal Service has already announced plans to file a new rate proposal, and any portion of a new rate that does not exceed one-third of the present rate can be implemented on a temporary basis 180 days after the new filing.

The Postal Service says it will need the new rates to cope with inflation and to pay the salary increases now being negotiated with postal workers' unions.

Wenner also recommended that the domestic air mail rate be 15 cents per ounce, instead of the temporary 13-cent figure now in effect, on the grounds that the extra cost of handling air mail exceeds the three-cent difference between that rate and the first-class rate.

The distinction is soon to become outdated, however, as the result of a Postal Service plan to merge air mail and first-class mail. Postal officals estimate that this will enable them to save the extra costs of air mail and provide all first-class mail with service as fast as that now promised for air mail.

In a statement reacting to Wenner's recommendations, the Postal Service said: "We are concerned that this initial decision proposes to apportion postal costs in ways that will severely impair the economic health of the postal system. We are also concerned about the impact of the law judge's proposed rates — especially on parcel post, newspapers and magazines."

Contending that revenue from first class now provides an unauthorized subsidy of $700 million to other classes of mail, Wenner also recommended these changes in current rates:

First-class postcards: A decrease from the current 8-cent temporary rate to 5 cents.

—Second class, used for newspapers and magazines: An increase from 5.4 cents to 15.7 cents per pound for editorial matter mailed outside the originating county, from 7.3 cents to 21.5 cents per pound for advertising material, from 2.9 cents to 11.8 cents per pound for editorial matter mailed by nonprofit organizations, from 5.1 cents to 21 cents per pound for advertising matter mailed by nonprofit organizations.

—Third-class bulk mailings: An increase from 32 to 36 cents per pound for circulars, from 28 cents to 36 cents for catalogs, from 11 cents to 22 cents for nonprofit circulars, from 9 cents to 20 cents per pound for nonprofit catalogs.

—Fourth class: An increase of 67 per cent for parcel post.

SURPRISE WEDDING: Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's son, John Patrick, leaves church with his bride, the former Mary Lou Briatta, Wednesday in Chicago. The date of the wedding was unannounced. The press was barred from the wedding for emphasizing links between the bride's father, Louis Briatta, and the crime syndicate. (AP Wirephoto)

Sheriff, Posse Cool Range War

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Seven hundred head of cattle graze in new and quieter pastures today after an armed showdown between a sheriff's posse and a Red River County rancher.

"I've never been through anything like this before," said Lamar County Sheriff Louie Noles. "It was a real showdown and for a while there I was afraid there was going to be some real shooting."

The mini range war began last Friday when Noles, armed with a court order, went to one of Kenneth Raulston's leased ranges to forcibly remove the herd. Raulston's wife Sarah said the owner of the land, who had obtained the order, wanted to void the lease for the 1,140-acre range so that he could sell the land.

But the Raulstons refused to move. "Our lease was already paid up," Mrs. Raulston said.

When he arrived, Noles was met at the range gate by Raulston whom Noles quoted as saying, "I'm going to get reinforcements. If you're still here when I get back, some of us won't leave here alive."

Noles said: "Well, I told 'em to hold everything right there. Don't do nothin'. I went back to town and got me a posse."

Noles returned with 18 armed men on horseback. "That's exactly what happened," said Mrs. Raulston, 32. "My husband went and got Blackie Hart, one of our ranchhands, and he told me to go get the guns. It took me about 30 minutes but I got back with a couple of 30-30s and three shotguns."

The Raulstons, their 15-year-old daughter and Hart aligned themselves at the ranch gate.

"Well, we were all squared off across the fence from each other," Sheriff Noles said. "We had a lot of words but it all boiled down to this: I told him 'You're a businessman and you can't do business from the jailhouse.' He's an old tush hog and he got puffed up pretty good. I thought for a while we'd all wind up shooting it out but after a while he backed off."

UPON THIS ROCK

"And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me."

John 12:32

God intended the crucifixion of Jesus, as the perfect sacrifice for sin, as atonement for our souls. God loves all people and so he gave his Son to die, to pay the price of our sin, that we could be forgiven and saved. Because Jesus was lifted up to die we are drawn to him, in love and faith, to follow and obey.

God also intended the church, a body of people who belong to Jesus, redeemed with his blood. There are many churches but only one belongs to Jesus. The church is his body and he has only one (Eph. 1:22-23, 4:4). It is a glorious body, sanctified and cleansed with the washing of water by the word (Eph. 5:26).

And someday he will present it to himself to be with him in heaven for ever. O glorious day.

Jesus calls to all people but not all are saved. Only those who believe and obey his will are saved and in his church (Heb. 5:8-9, Mark 16:15-16). Will you do as Jesus wants? (Matt. 7:21-23). If you have any questions on this article please write to us.

'Quiet' Teen Kills 2, Self In School Shooting Spree

BRAMPTON, Ont. (AP) — A quiet teen-ager who killed two persons on a shooting rampage in the halls of a high school before killing himself was apparently bent on revenge against some of his teachers, police say.

Michael Slobodian, 16, who said he was "fed up with life," walked through the corridors of Brampton Centennial Secondary School in this suburb of Toronto shortly before noon Wednesday, spraying bullets from two rifles at screaming, terrified students, authorities said.

He killed a student, John Slinger, 17, and an art teacher, Margaret E. Wright, 25, and wounded 13 students before blowing his head off. Three of the wounded are in serious condition. Mrs. Wright was one of his intended victims.

Deputy Chief William Teggart of the Peel Regional Police said a note found in the youth's bedroom indicated that revenge may have been the motive. Teggart said the note, addressed to Slobodian's family, named two teachers who Slobodian said he "wanted to eliminate."

One of those named was Mrs. Wright. The name of the other teacher mentioned in the note was not released.

Sylvia Meister, 15, said she was near her locker on the first floor when the shooting occurred.

"I heard two bangs. People were running through the halls and I wondered what was happening. I looked down the hallway and saw this boy pointing a rifle at me. I didn't know him. He fired a shot and I felt a sting in my arm. I ran into a classroom to get away from him.

"The whole thing keeps going through my mind. It doesn't seem real!"

Karen Spragge, 16, said she was standing near a classroom when she heard a bang and felt pain in her right leg and arm.

She said she looked down the hallway and saw Slobodian coming at her with a rifle from a cloud of smoke. She said people were running in every direction.

"It's like something you see on TV. It reminded me of Kent State," she said.

Slobodian's sister, Dona, 18, told newsmen her brother's note said he was "fed up with life," was "going to eliminate some people" and kill himself. She said he had complained about his English and physics teachers writing to his parents about his poor attendance.

Students who knew him said Slobodian was a good student, was quiet and kept to himself.

Miss Spragge said she knew Slobodian two years ago, but said he seemed to have changed lately.

"I don't blame him for what he did," she said. "He must have had something wrong with him."

Teggart gave this account of the shooting:

Slobodian, carrying a .44 Magnum lever action rifle and a .22 caliber automatic in a guitar case, entered a men's washroom on the first floor of the school shortly before noon. Dona Slobodian said her brother had learned how to handle the weapons while hunting with their father.

The youth apparently loaded the rifles in the washroom and began firing at Slinger and another student. Slinger was fatally wounded.

Slobodian left the washroom, firing at random at students and wounding of them. He walked down the hall, wounding three more near the home economics room and five more in the area of the cafeteria.

Then he turned toward the art room and fatally shot Mrs. Wright and wounded two more boys before finally turning the gun on himself. Witnesses said his head was blown off.

SHOOTING VICTIM: An unidentified man injured in a shooting at a Brampton, Ont., high school Wednesday is removed from the school by ambulance attendant. Police say three students were killed and 13 injured in the incident. (CP Wirephoto)

Electric Bill Hike Average At $2.18

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A record-breaking $118 million rate increase sought by Consumers Power Co. would raise the average monthly residential electric bill $2.18.

The company's board chairman, A. H. Aymond, said if the state Public Service Commission turns down the request, filed Wednesday, the utility will not be able to meet the state's future energy needs and massive unemployment could result.

If the PSC grants the request, the company could increase profits by $41.6 million a year and collect an additional $50 million a year to cover rising labor and equipment costs.

The company said it needs $73.5 million of the request immediately and the remainder by next February.

Since 1970, the utility has been granted $134.7 million in electric rate increases.

The latest request would permit the utility to speed up power plant construction which has been canceled or delayed at four generating facilities.

"By 1980 there must be at least 565,000 more people in jobs in Michigan if unemployment is not to exceed four per cent," said Aymond. "But current utility construction levels will not sustain these new jobs.

"Electric shortages could translate into severe unemployment in Michigan as early as 1980."

This year's construction budget of $484 million was cut to $241 million because of depressed earnings, company officials said.

Earnings as of April 30 were $1.82 on each share of common stock.

The company's authorized profit level is 12.12 per cent on common equity, which translates to $3.40 per share of common stock. Aymond said the company has been unable to earn its authorized rate of return because of inflation.

The Jackson-based utility has 1.2 million electric customers.

Freeway Price Of Gas Is Up

DETROIT (AP) — Gasoline prices, already up 1.7 cents per gallon since April 1 along tourist routes, rose again this week and could go up another 1.5 cents this summer, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

This week's increase of two-tenths of a cent raised the average cost of regular gas at 300 stations checked along tourist routes to an 57.7 cents per gallon.

The Auto Club survey shows regular gas now ranging from 50.9 to 66.1 cents per gallon.

The average for no-lead fuel remained at 59 cent per gallon, the same as last week, the club said.

Prosecutor Will Fight Supreme Court

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court has ordered a sentence reduction for a man convicted in the stabbing death of a 17-year-old girl.

But Livingston County Prosecutor Thomas Kizer said he will fight to keep the convicted murderer, Byron L. Hoffmeister, "behind bars for the rest of his natural life for the brutal slaying."

Kizer prosecuted Hoffmeister for the slaying of Wendy Braddon at Brighton and probably will testify at the resentencing in Livingston County Circuit Court.

Bleeding from numerous wounds, Miss Braddon, drove her car to a friend's house and collapsed Aug. 11, 1971. She was returning from Detroit when attacked.

A Livingston County Circuit Court jury convicted Hoffmeister, now 28, of first-degree murder in the knifing. Judge Paul R. Mahinske imposed a mandatory life sentence April 16, 1972.

Hoffmeister's conviction must be reduced to second-degree murder because "the brutality of a killing does not itself justify an inference of premeditation and deliberation," the Supreme Court said Wednesday in a 5-0 opinion.

Premeditation and deliberation are necessary ingredients of a first-degree murder conviction.

The Supreme Court objected to Kizer's remarks at the trial. The attorney said, "The nature of the wounds (and) the number of wounds" inflicted, along with Hoffmeister's "several moments" with the girl, were sufficent for the jury to reasonably infer premeditation and deliberation.

"There is no basis on the record for an inference that between the successive, potentially lethal blows the killer calmly, in a cool state of mind" measured and evaluated his action, the high court said.

Later, Kizer said:

"I will try to see that the man will never be out from behind bars. It was an extremely brutal murder of a fine young girl."

On a second-degree murder charge, the judge can give a defendant probation or life in prison. A life sentence allows parole after 10 years if approved by the prosecutor and judge. There is no chance for parole on a first-degree murder conviction unless the governor commutes the sentence.

"We believe he (Hoffmeister) indicated somehow to the girl that there was something wrong with her car. When she pulled over, he got in and tried to take liberties with her. When she resisted, he stabbed her," Kizer said.

"I don't ever want to see that guy on the streets again no matter how rehabilitated anybody says he gets. I think the people deserve at least that much protection," Kizer said.

BH-SJ Chamber Director Named

DONALD L. EPPELHEIMER
On Chamber board

Donald L. Eppelheimer, senior vice president of the first National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, has been appointed to the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors to fill a vacancy.

Eppelheimer, who received a master's degree from Michigan State university, was employed by the MSU Cooperative Extension service prior to joining the first National Bank of Southwestern Michigan as vice president in 1960. He was promoted to bank senior vice president in 1973.

Eppelheimer is secretary of the Lake Michigan college board of trustees, treasurer of the Berrien County Historical commission, and a member of the board of directors of CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) Council and the Berrien Red Cross. He and his wife, Mary, live at 3100 Ridgeview drive, St. Joseph, and have three children.

New LMC Catalog Available

The 1975-76 general catalog for Lake Michigan college, describing all courses and listing curricula and major programs at the college, is now available at the LMC admissions office.

The 160-page catalog also contains the college's rules, admission requirements, placement and financial aid information, and tuition and fee schedules. Prepared by Thomas McCourt, LMC registrar, the catalog cover was designed by LMC art student Christina Schneider, of 2520 River Bend drive, Benton Harbor.

Stevensville Student Is Honor Grad

Thais Ann Ehman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ehman, 5580 Golden Crest drive, Stevensville, recently graduated magna cum laude from Kellogg Community college, Battle Creek, with an associate degree in dental hygiene. She is a 1973 Lakeshore high school graduate.

Spacemen Rehearse Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The three American astronauts who will rendezvous in space with two Russian cosmonauts have had a successful dress rehearsal of July's launch.

"If we had been launching at 3:30 p.m. on July 15, we could have launched right on schedule," launch director Walter Kapryan said after the Wednesday practice.

Astronauts Donald K. Slayton and Vance Brand remained in the Apollo spacecraft, atop a Saturn Rocket, during most of the test. Meanwhile, Brig. Gen. Thomas Stafford, the mission commander, reviewed crew equipment and planned experiments.

Repay Clients $44 Million, Judge Tells Turner Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Glenn W. Turner and associates should be ordered to reimburse thousands of persons who invested $44 million in a cosmetics marketing plan, a Federal Trade Commission administrative judge recommends.

Judge Donald R. Moore, in an order Tuesday, ruled that a pyramid marketing plan was used to sell Koscot cosmetics unlawfully by an "endless chain" of recruits, and that exagerated earnings claims and other misrepresentations were used to enlist distributors.

Moore also ruled that Koscot engaged in price fixing and price discrimination, and that Koscot imposed unreasonable and anticompetitive restrictions upon distributors.

In his recommendation for restitution, Moore said that from August 1967 to July 1972 Koscot obtained more than $44 million from initial fees paid by some 30,000 distributors.

In Orlando, Fla., a spokesman for Turner said the promoter could make no comment because he remains under a gag rule imposed during a 1974 mail fraud trial. That federal trial ended in a hung jury and a new trial is scheduled for this August in Tampa.

"We feel it is unfair for the government to release anything like (Moore's ruling) that can damage our case before trial," said Turner spokesman Tom Bush. "We have asked to be removed from the gag rule in order to comment on this, but we've had no response and we don't want to risk a contempt charge."

The announcement of Moore's decision noted that his is not a final decision of the FTC and may be appealed, stayed or docketed for review.

"Glenn Turner had an 'impossible dream' ... and, for a time, the dream became a sort of reality for him, for some of his associates, and for those relatively few who got in on the ground floor," Moore said in the decision. "But for thousands of others, it remained an impossible dream and a virtual financial nightmare."

The order would require that restitution be made by Koscot Interplanetary Inc. and Glenn W. Turner Enterprises Inc., both of Orlando, and three individuals, Turner, Ben Bunting and Hobart Wilder.

How much money, if any, the 30,000 investors could expect to recover if the FTC upholds the ruling isn't known. The commission noted that Koscot currently is seeking protection under federal bankruptcy law. Moreover, although there was testimony at Turner's first criminal trial last year that he and other defendants have secret bank accounts in Switzerland and other unidentified countries, the government doesn't know how much those accounts may hold, federal lawyers here said. The jury was unable to reach a verdict in that trial.

Moore's order states that "Koscot offered a plan that was ostensibly designed to sell cosmetics but that actually operated as a scheme to defraud the gullible — and even the not-so-gullible."

The plan, said Moore, included payment of commissions to participants for recruiting other distributors. He said the fallacy in the plan "is that it involves a geometric progression which, carried through to its ultimate result, would mean that in 18 months the entire United States population would be involved in the plan."

Turner, who switched from selling cosmetics distributorships and cosmetics to selling motivational courses through his Dare to Be Great Program, reached the peak of his selling success in the early 1970s. His ventures have shrunk drastically since then, though, under fire from more that 40 state regulatory agencies, the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Justice Department.

38-Year Bell Veteran Retiring

Anthony J. Behnke of Kalamazoo, Michigan Bell's district manager of network services for the Kalamazoo-Benton Harbor area, will retire on June 1 after more than 38 years with the telephone company.

ANTHONY J. BEHNKE
Logs 38 Years

He will be succeeded by Ronald H. Shurter, 28, of Troy.

A native of Dowagiac and lifelong resident of southwestern Michigan, Behnke, 60, has been district manager of network services for three years. Following retirement, he will move to Kalkaska.

Behnke began his career with Michigan Bell in 1937 as a telephone installer in Benton Harbor. He later worked in Niles, Buchanan and Battle Creek before being promoted to installation foreman in 1945.

Behnke was named district plant manager in Kalamazoo in 1968 and four years later was promoted to his present post.

A former member of the board of directors for the Kalamazoo County Safety club and member of the Battle Creek Industrial Safety club, Behnke also served as vice president and secretary of the Battle Creek Civitan club.

He is a graduate of Dowagiac high school and attended Dowagiac junior college.

African Nations Form Pact

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Fifteen countries in the bulge of West Africa have formed the Economic Community of West African States, or ECOWAS, the largest economic group in Africa.

Fourteen chiefs of state and government heads and one cabinet minister signed the Treaty of Lagos Wednesday. Nigerian President Yakubu Gowon called on the members to "do battle with poverty, ignorance and disease."

WELFARE HITS NEW HIGH, WASHINGTON (AP) — High unemployment produced a sharp increase in the number of fathers receiving public assistance during February and helped push family welfare rolls to a record high of 11.2 million.

Tasty Fish Dinner For Special Diets

"When you put Lemony Pepper Fish Fillets on a plate with Zucchini With Onions and Herb Tomato Halves, it looks too good to be called a 'special diet'!"

Overweight? Everyone knows that fat isn't beautiful, especially in the summertime. Need a recipe that cuts calories without leaving you hungry? Try this week's "Smart Cooking" suggestion — Lemony Pepper Fish Fillets along with Zucchini With Onions and Herb Tomato Halves.

This nutritious combination is also invaluable for those who must restrict their salt intake. Remember fish is not only low in calories, but relatively inexpensive, too.

SMC Approves Two-Year Teacher Pact

DOWAGIAC — A new two-year contract providing for pay increases for instructors at Southwestern Michigan college here was adopted last night by the SMC board of trustees. The pact was ratified earlier by the SMC Education association which represents the college's 36-member instructor staff. It replaces a three-year pact which expired with the end of the college's spring term this year.

Under the package, instructors this year will receive an overall eight per cent boost, including five per cent through assumption by the college of retirement payments to the state.

Under the new schedule, instructors with a bachelor's degree would receive $8,894 to start and reach $15,137 with 14 years experience. The old scale had been $8,000 to $14,897 with 13 years experience. An instructor with a master's degree is to receive $9,197 with no experience and up to $17,088 with 15 years experience. Doctorate degree instructors start at $10,522 and can make up to $19,656, also with 15 years experience.

The previous scales had been $8,400 to $16,264 for master degree instructors and $9,400 to $17,506 for doctorate degree instructors. David Briegel, vice president for business affairs, said the contract would cost the college about $32,000 additional in the 1975-76 school year for instructor salaries.

He said average pay increases in the second year of the pact would range from $600 to $1,300 depending on the degree held by the instructor and the number of years of credited experience. The new pact is to be effective Aug. 18.

Dr. Fred Matthews, board president, said that with the signing, SMC became one of the first two-year college's in the state to settle with the instructors. Mrs. Wilma Kime, SMCEA president, said the association felt the agreement was a move in building a stronger relationship between the board, administrators, and the faculty.

Tapped For Honorary

Karla Kerlikowske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kerlikowske, 3359 Kerlikowske road, Coloma, was recently selected to be a member of Tower Guard, a national woman's honorary, at Michigan State university. Miss Kerlikowske, a freshman majoring in pre-professional medicine, was one of 50 MSU women selected from a field of 200 at tapping ceremonies at Beaumont Tower on the East Lansing campus May 1. Members are recommended by a faculty member and selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership and potential for service.

Sanford Enters Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Terry Sanford, president of Duke University and former governor of North Carolina, today announced his candidacy for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination. Sanford, 57, the sixth Democrat to enter the race, vowed an administration that would "complete and fulfill the promise of the American Revolution." Sanford said he would enter between 17 and 20 primary campaigns, "not expecting to win them all, but expecting to lay out in all of them the creative tasks that lie before us."

Dems Seek More Hopefuls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four potential Democratic presidential candidates say that party leaders are unhappy with the current field and are seeking additional entrants in the 1976 presidential race. At the same time, some of these Democrats are actively proclaiming a rekindled interest in their own potential candidacies. Others are quite willing to acknowledge such interest in themselves. Such interest by party leaders reportedly is being shown in former Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver and in Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, among others.

Calm Returns To Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Street fighting tapered off today and Premier Rashid Karami ordered security forces to kill snipers who do not surrender. Karami made clear that he would not wait to form a new cabinet before cracking down on the private armies that have terrorized Beirut for nine days. He ordered patrols of Lebanese police and Palestinian guerrillas to flush out diehards, dismantle street barricades and intervene in clashes between religious and political factions. People began returning to work. Some schools, shops and banks reopened. Sanitation trucks began collecting piles of garbage that had accumulated on street corners.

Kids' Party A Blast

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — The picnic was a real blast. Ranking right up there with the hot dogs was a .50-caliber machine gun for the 800 youngsters to play with. "I asked the Marine Corps Reserve for a display. They thought maybe the kids could shoot the machine gun ... the Marines asked me and I said 'sure,'" said Yakima police officer Mike Amos. Gunnery Sgt. Richard Cecil said that during the picnic, sponsored by the Jaycees and the Yakima Police Department, the fifth and sixth grade Yakima Valley School Patrol children fired 3,000 rounds of blank ammunition. Cecil, who supervised the shooting, said, "I thought it might be a good idea. They shot blanks, which, of course, are harmless."

Grand Rapids Woman Arrested After Crash

Booked at the Berrien jail on a charge of eluding a police officer was Joy Maranapha, 24. She was not hurt in the crash.

Deputies said they were called to the Firebird truck stop in Sawyer at about 8 p.m. where the woman was reportedly causing a disturbance. She got into her car when asked to leave by deputies, but began circling her car in the parking lot, they said.

Deputies attempted to stop the car, but she left the lot and proceeded west on Sawyer road pursued by deputies. The chase ended when her car crashed into the pole west of Red Arrow highway.

'No Progress' In Cyprus Talks

Washington Wednesday, the President met with Premier Leo Tindemans of Belgium to urge him to give the go-ahead for Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark and Norway to buy more than $2 billion worth of American FY16 jet fighters to replace their F104 Starfighters.

The other three nations are ready to go ahead with the deal but only if Belgium joins them. The Belgians are still considering the French Mirage F1M53 as an alternative, and Tindemans told Ford he wanted more time.

"Everything is still possible," the premier told newsmen. "We do not feel we have all the elements for a decision."

He added that he probably would discuss the matter with President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France.

Ford on his arrival with Mrs. Ford Wednesday said he came to reassure America's European allies "that NATO is the cornerstone of U.S. foreign policy and has the unwavering support of the American public and of our Congress and that the Atlantic Alliance, our commitment to this alliance will not falter."

He said the alliance "remains strong" but "to guarantee that vitality we must vigorously address the problems confronting us.

"The United States is convinced that detente with the East can only proceed on a foundation of strong and secure Alliance defenses," the President added.

Compromise End Jobless Pay Logjam

benefit increases ranging from $15 to $40, based on the number of dependents a worker has. The Democrats yielded by granting disqualification extensions.

Milliken and legislative leaders agreed the compromise was an "acceptable and honorable" one.

Both sides claimed they got what they most wanted.

For Democrats that was a major, across-the-board increase in benefits and some protection for those harassed into quitting or fired for phony reasons.

Republican businessmen, galled by those who abuse the system, charged they would be driven out of business by the cost of the measure but received benefits in the delay of payments to some workers.

or seek employment, was Cynthia Scales, 32, of 723 Columbus avenue, Benton Harbor. She attempted to deliver heroin Oct. 24, 1973, in Benton Harbor.

In arraignments before Judge Byrns:

Sharon Leigh Talley, 24, of Toledo, Ohio, pleaded no contest to a charge of attempted armed robbery, which was accepted by the court. A charge of armed robbery was dismissed by the prosecutor's office.

She was accused of attempting to rob Charles Jeffrey, a truck driver, at gunpoint of $75 Jan. 27 at the information center off I-94 in New Buffalo township.

John P. Yakel, 18, of 904 Lions Park drive, St. Joseph, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering. He attempted to break into the Cass Dairy store, at 868 Euclid avenue, Benton township, on April 17.

Portuguese Hold Maoist Leader

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — In a crackdown on left-wing extremists, Portugal's leftist military government has arrested a number of members of a small Maoist party in Lisbon and Coimbra, the military security force announced today.

A communique accused the Movement for the Reorganization of the Party of the Proletariat, or MRPP, of "falsely revolutionary" activities and attitudes of "confrontation." The announcement said the party was a threat to internal security.

Chrysler, VW Have Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and Volkswagenwerk AG, two of the world's most troubled companies, have held private discussions on the possible sale of an empty Chrysler car plant to VW. VW Chairman Toni Schmuecker and Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend discussed using the $35 million New Stanton, Pa., plant for building VW cars but no decision was reached, a Chrysler spokesman said. The spokesman said Wednesday that Schmuecker flew to Detroit last Friday for a two-hour meeting at Chrysler headquarters.

Swedish Firm Won't Buy Reo

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Swedish shipbuilding firm has dropped out of negotiations to buy financially troubled Diamond Reo Truck Co. Diamond Reo, the tenth largest U.S. truckmaker, is scheduled to appear in federal bankruptcy court Friday for final proceedings on its application for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy law. Mildred Johnson, Reo executive vice president, said Wednesday the Swedish firm, Kockum's, refused to buy the company because of the short amount of time availible to complete the sale.

Taylor 'Victim' Alive

ADRIAN, Mich., (AP) — A man among those allegedly slain by Gary Addison Taylor has turned up alive and well in Garden City, the sheriff of Lenawee County says. Sheriff Richard Germond on Wednesday said the man, Wilbert Parker, was supposed to have been one of the four people killed and buried near Taylor's former home in Cambridge Township near Adrian. Germond said Parker had no idea he was the man believed to be buried along with three women. The sheriff quoted Parker as saying Taylor was a casual aquaintance when they worked together in Ypsilanti. He said Parker apparently did not realize that Taylor he knew in Ypsilanti was the same man now facing a series of murder accusations.

Court Upholds Suspension

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court has upheld the 15-month suspension of Big Rapids District Court Judge Frank Ryman. The ruling Wednesday affirmed a decision by the State Bar Grievance Board, which found Ryman used his post for personal interests. Ryman was accused of professional misconduct for drawing five antedated quitclaim deeds for a client who had died. The purpose was to make the deceased client and her daughter joint tenants, the grievance panel said. Ryman wrote the name of the deceased client on the deeds and witnessed each deed under his own signature "with the intent to injure or defraud another person," the grievance panel said. The panel said Ryman did not profit personally.

Few To Handle Complaints

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Only 11.4 per cent of the financial institutions in Michigan have an employe assigned to handle consumer complaints, a survey shows. The survey of 717 banks, credit unions, finance companies and savings and loan associations was issued Wednesday by the state financial insitutions bureau. It shows 10 per cent of the banks, 8.5 per cent of the savings and loan associations, 24 per cent of the finance companies and 9.8 per cent of the credit unions reported they had a designated complaint officer. "This is one of the real weaknesses we found," said Richard Francis, financial institutions bureau commissioner. "Every financial institution in the state should have a person handling consumer complaints."

THE FIRST official step toward creating the U.S. Navy was when the Continental Congress, on Oct. 13, 1775, appointed Silas Deane, John Langdon and Christopher Gadsden to outfit two ships. The vessels, one with 14 guns, the other with 10, were to cruise the Atlantic and intercept British transports. Congress had been considering the creation of a Continental Navy due to the great success of "Washington's Fleet." The Navy celebrates its birthday on Oct. 13th, The World Almanac reports.

Motorcycle Rider Hurt

NILES — Walter Jones, 39, Niles, was hospitalized last night with injuries he received when his motorcycle hit a tree stump along Huntley road near here.

State police from Niles said Jones was rounding a curve when the cycle went out of control and hit the stump. Jones was reported in good condition today in Pawating hospital, Niles, with a possible broken shoulder.

Ship Owner To Get Objects Back

AGANA, Guam (AP) — A controversial cargo of Vietnamese art objects will be returned to the owner of the refugee ship which brought them here, the governor's office announced today.

A spokesman for Gov. Ricardo Bordallo said it is now believed that the collection of porcelain vases and other art works were the private collection of a Vietnamese family rather than national Vietnamese art treasures.

Hartford-Lawrence Sewer Board Proposal Tabled

HARTFORD — A suggestion to create a 10-member board to administer the planning phase for a proposed Hartford-Lawrence sanitary sewer district was tabled last night here at a meeting attended by four of five municipalities involved.

A decision on what municipality will act as the applicant for a federal-state grant to finance a sewer district feasibility study was also postponed.

Representatives from Hartford city and township, Bangor township and Lawrence township attended the one-hour meeting at Hartford city hall. Representatives from the village of Lawrence did not attend the meeting.

The Michigan Department of Natural resources has suggested that the five units consider the formation of a sanitary sewer district to serve the more densely populated areas of the five municipalities.

Hartford city and Lawrence village have each applied for separate sewer study grants.

Spokesmen from Wightman and Associates, Hartford city's consulting engineers, said there is a federal program that would pay 75 per cent of planning costs and a state program that would pay five per cent.

Muncicipalities involved would have to pay about $5,000 total for the planning study that would cost about $15,000 to $20,000, the engineering firm spokesman said.

Hartford Mayor Gene Story said Hartford would act as the study grant applicant, or would step aside if another municipality wanted to be the applicant.

Farm Labor Overtime Pay Bill Readied

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

LANSING — Farm workers in Michigan would be paid time and a half this year for working over 46 hours a week, under a bill being considered in the state House of Representatives.

House Bill 4921 also requires that farm laborers earn at least $2 an hour, the state's minimum wage.

According to the bill's timetable, by 1977 farm workers will be paid time and a half for overtime worked over 40 hours a week, the standard used nationwide by business and industry.

"Farms are not factories. Plants do not grow on an eight hour day," said Mrs. Mildred Schultz, president of Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan (WSAM) and an opponent of the bill.

The federal Fair Labor Standards Act currently exempts agriculture, and other selected businesses that are subject to ups and downs in work load, from paying time and a half for overtime, according to Robert E. Smith, legislative counsel with the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Michigan law now allows growers to pay farm laborers on a piece rate basis and, if the worker is slow, it is "perfectly legal" to pay less than $2 an hour, according to M.J. Buschlen, operations manager for the Michigan Agricultural Services association.

The piece rates are set annually by the Wage Deviation board of the state labor department and are designed to assure that an average worker will get at least as much as the minimum wage.

For workers who do not make minimum wage on piece rate work, the growers now must see that they earn at least $1.80 an hour, which is the current federal minimum wage. Youngsters under 18 are exempt from the minimum wage requirement, but the new bill would lower the age at which the minimum wage requirement becomes effective to 16.

The bill would also require farm employers to keep additional records to show hours worked per week, units harvested and rates paid.

The bill states first that every worker shall earn $2 an hour minimum then adds that "in addition to $2, the employer may pay piece rates on top of that," Buschlen explained.

Smith said the bill, if passed, "probably would eliminate hiring people who can't make $2 at piece rates." Buschlen said that "folks who want to work at their own speed" will probably be out of a job.

"House Bill No. 4921 is a perfect example of legislation designed by people with no real knowledge of agriculture," said Mrs. Schultz, a Coloma farm woman.

"The cost of the extra burden of bookkeeping will, of course, be passed on to the consumer where possible, but will most likely be one more financial blow to the family farmers of this state," she said.

Final amendments for the bill, introduced by Rep. David E. Bonier (D.-Mt Clemens), will be considered this week.

Connee Canfield, WSAM member, says that the people who drafted the bill must think "migrants don't make $2 an hour." It isn't likely that farm workers would travel here from Southern states to pick fruits and vegetables for less than $2 an hour, she said.

At present the Michigan minimum wage is paid by any farmer who employs, at any one time, four workers, Smith said.

Under the bill, workers would get overtime for hours worked over 46 this year, 44 next year and 40 in 1977, Buschlen pointed out.

The bill would also affect dairy farms and other agricultural enterprises.

Berrien Seniors Honored By U-M

Twenty-five Berrien county high school seniors are among 1,024 high school graduates who have been named Regents-Alumni Scholars by the University of Michigan.

The University of Michigan annually selects Regents-Alumni Scholars for their "superior academic achievement and their potential contribution to the scholarly community of the University of Michigan."

Each scholar receives a $50 honorarium upon enrollment at the university in September. Financial need is not a consideration in the selection of the Regents-Alumni Scholars.

Area students selected for the award are:

Jordan Bublick, Lake Michigan Catholic high school; and Jillian Berndt, Martha Hauch and Frank Linn, all of St. Joseph high school.

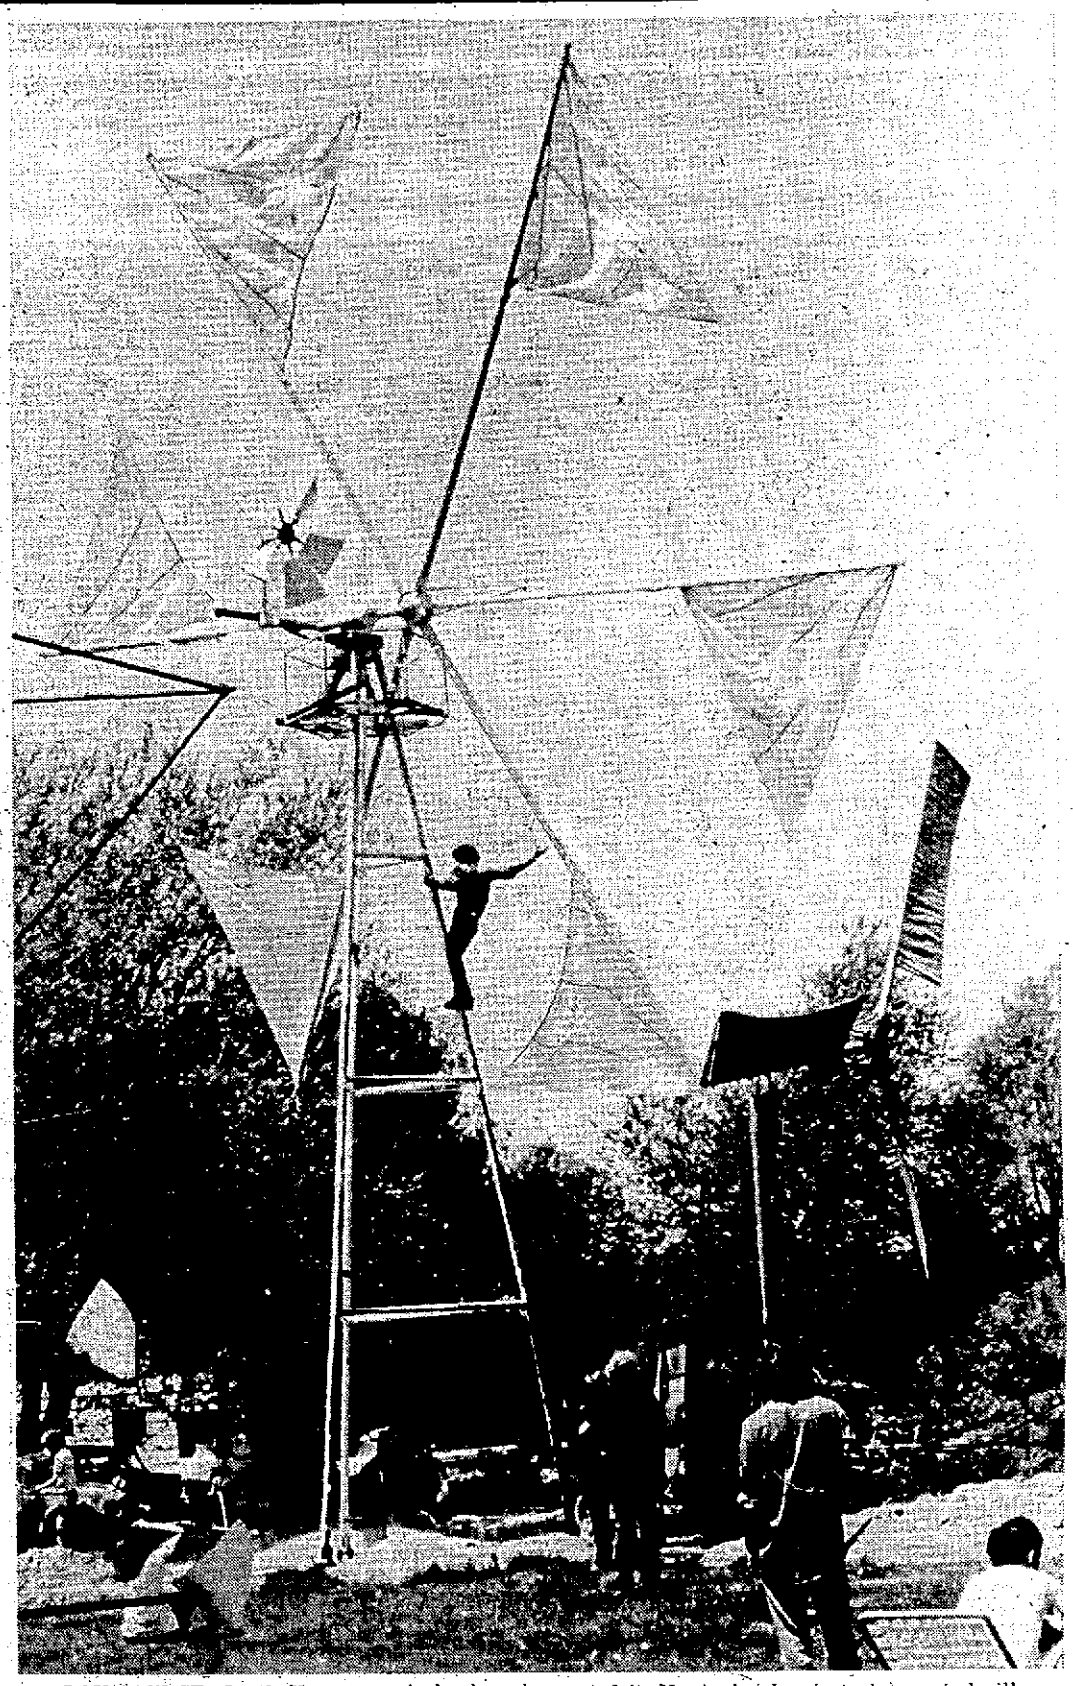
Ann Dubinsky, Chandra Greer, Mabina Shoemaker, all of Benton Harbor high school; Laurie Reed, Eau Claire high school; Russell Ott, Bridgman high school; Robert Savoie, Buchanan high school; Roger Lauricella, New Buffalo high school; Suzanne Grahn, Coloma high school; Abigail Woodruff, Watervliet high school; Janice Van Ginhoven, River Valley high school, and James Cooke and Cynthia Sherburn, both of Berrien Springs high school.

James Bradtke, Ingrid Koppier, Joel Mattox, Steven Spilger and Bruce Steenburgh, all of Lakeshore high school, and Diane Boose, Mark Bruni, Laura Herrmann and Rebecca Spoerl, all of Niles high school.

Author's Wife Wins Damages

NEW YORK (AP) — Jill Uris, wife of best-selling novelist Leon Uris, has been awarded $500,000 damages by a Brooklyn federal court jury for injuries she suffered in a dune-buggy accident in 1970.

The jury of two men and four women also awarded Uris $25,000 for loss of services.



ENERGY SOURCE: South Haven man's backyard project holds one answer to energy crunch in addition to meeting his aim for inovation. Ben Newton, a retiree, labored nearly year making windmill from scrap metal and last weekend friends and relatives erected it. Newton's plan is to have windmill run generator which will produce power to heat water that he hopes will warm his home next winter. Newton home is on 66th street, north of South Haven, in Allegan county's Casco township.

BUILDER WATCHES: Ben Newton looks upward as finishing touches are made to windmill he has built in backyard. Windmill was result of desire to be inovative more than move to meet energy need, he said. Newton for years operated machine shop and decided to put his welding skills to artistic use after retiring. His property abounds with large metal sculptures welded from scraps he accumulated over years. (Tom Renner photos)

Utility Rate Hearing In BH Saturday

A special state House committee investigating the regulation of utility rates by the Michigan Public Service commission, will hold a public hearing at 10 a.m. Saturday, in Benton Harbor public library.

The committee will hear testimony from both residential and commercial ratepayers on the effectiveness of the Public Service commission in regulating rates in a manner that protects public and private interests, according to Rep. Howard Wolpe (D-Kalamazoo), committee chairman.

The Benton Harbor hearing is one of six being held state-wide. A future set of hearings will offer utility companies time to explain their positions, Wolpe said.

The Public Service commission last February held a hearing in Benton Harbor for citizens, who objected to a proposed 22.9 per cent rate hike sought by Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. Final determination on that request has not been made.

The House in April created the special committee to review thoroughly all aspects of the Public Service commission, which regulates rates for all utility furms, including gas, electric and telephone companies.

Besides Wolpe, the committee includes, former House speaker William Ryan (D-Detroit); Rep. Lynn Jondahl (D-East Lansing) Rep. David Bonior (D-Mt. Clemens); Rep. Gary Owen (D-Ypsilanti); Rep. James Smith (R-Grand Blanc); Rep. Dan Stevens (R-Atlanta); and Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique).

Rep. Gerrit Hasper (D-Muskegon), chairman of the House committee on public utilities, serves as an ex-officio member of the committee.

Van Buren Keeps Red Cross Alive

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Over $19,000, enough to continue Van Buren Red Cross chapter operations for another year, was raised during a recent fund drive, according to Mrs. Howard (Mary) Bush, chapter chairman.

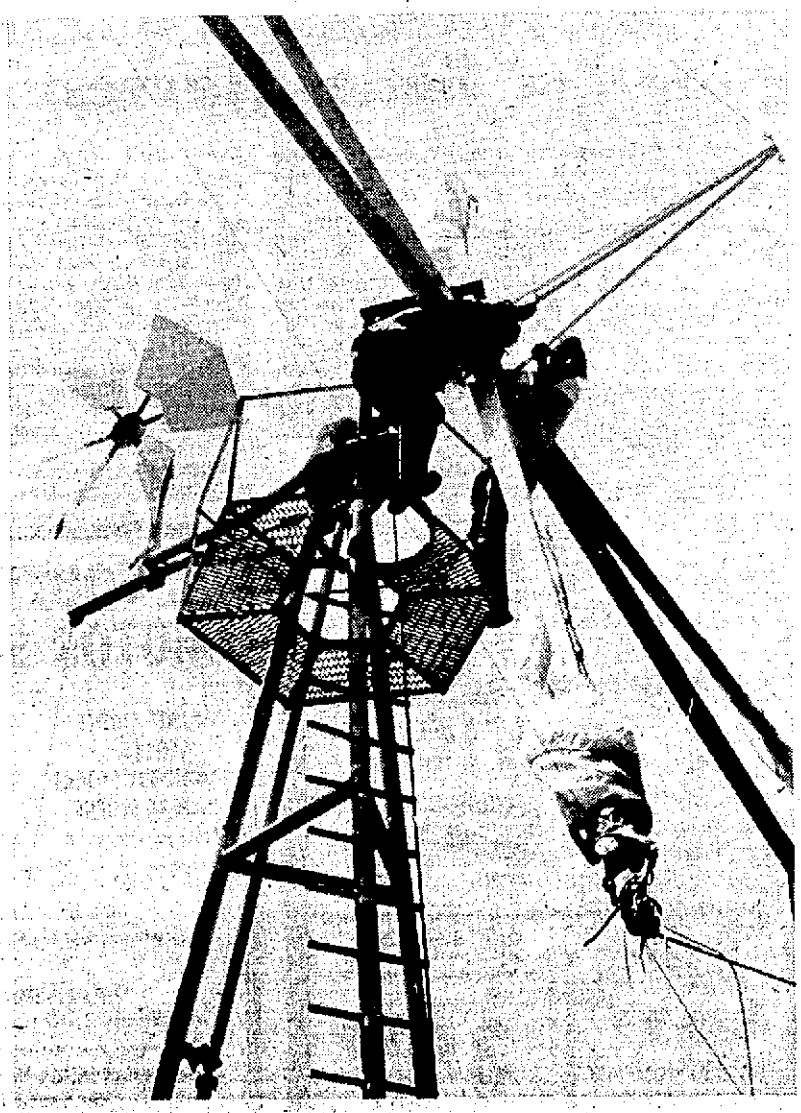
Combined with an anticipated $8,000 from last fall's United Way and United Fund campaigns not yet received, the $19,000 will assure the continued operation of the chapter's Bloodmobile program, Mrs. Bush said.

Officials had set a total drive goal of $30,000 in March — $8,000 to pay off existing debts, and $22,000 to continue operations through the end of the year. At that time it was feared that unless the drive was successful, the chapter might lose its blood program.

Last year, some 2,000 pints of blood were made available to county residents free of charge through the program. Had this blood been bought commercially it would have cost about $50 a pint or $100,000.

Mrs. Bush said the funds collected will also enable the Van Buren chapter to continue its programs in disaster relief, service to military families, hospital volunteers, first aid, home nursing, water safety instruction, and emergency relief nursing.

The drive was under the general chairmanship of Richard Showerman of Hartford.



FINISHING TOUCHES: Friends put finishing touches on windmill designed similar to those in foreign countries. Sails are remnants of an old parachute according to designer Ben Newton.

OK Postal Sales Of Food Stamps

Food stamps will be sold at eight U.S. post offices in Berrien county beginning Monday, the county Department of Social Services announced today.

The post offices that are authorized to sell the food stamps are located at Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Niles, New Buffalo, Bridgman, Watervliet, Coloma and Berrien Springs.

The post office locations are for sales only, Wesley Bowerman, county social services director, said. Certifications and recertifications for food stamp purchases must be done at the regular food stamp offices located at 242 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, and in Buchanan, he said. Food stamps will still be sold at these offices as well as at the Senior Citizens centers in Benton Harbor and Niles.

In order to purchase food stamps, a person must make application and be certified as eligible. An authorization to purchase card is issued to eligible people and this card makes it possible to purchase the food stamps.

Food stamps will be sold at the post offices between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Nonsmokers Suffer 'Loss'

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — A resolution to ban smoking at Saginaw County Board of Commissioners meetings has gone up in a puff of smoke.

The issue was first voted on Tuesday and smokers lost, 9-8. In its place, the board passed a motion to get the county health committee to find ways to make the commission room more comfortable for nonsmokers.

'M' Alumni, Coaches Fighting Battle Against Women

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Alumni athletes at the University of Michigan are fighting to keep a traditionally male-only award for excellence from women athletes.

The Block M is presented to only male students for outstanding athletic performance at the school.

"I am sure you will realize how serious it would be for the yellow M to be awarded for synchronized swimmmg, softball and so forth.

"It would make the award worthless, in my opinion and, obviously, in the opinion of (some) coaches ..." said William M. Mazer Jr., president of the 3,000-member Graduate M Club of alumni award winners. He made the remarks in a letter written to club members.

Women's athletic director Marie C. Hartwig said earlier this week the effort to keep women from getting the award was amazing.

"We can't believe they're doing it," she said.

Women's intercollegiate teams at U-M include field hockey, tennis, basketball, volleyball, competitive swimming and synchronized swimming.

The issue is slated for discussion June 10 at a meeting of the 18-member U-M Board in Control of Intercollegiate Athletics. The board is composed of faculty, students, alumni and administration representatives, including director of athletics Don Canham.

Discussion of whether to give the Block M or to award a "separate but equal" recognition to women athletes was tabled at the last board meeting in April.

Statements from Michigan football Coach Bo Schembechler and basketball head John Orr are attached to Mazer's letter.

Orr opposes giving the awards to women.

"It (giving identical awards) would harm our basketball program because the average athlete aspires to earn the Block M and I'm not sure he would feel the same if the women's basketball and women's archery team could receive the identical award," Orr's letter says.

Schembechler says women should have an equal award but not the Block M.

Mazer said Wednesday he had no comment on his sending the letters to members of the Graduate M Club, which he termed "a private organization."

Canham said his office would have no statement until after the June board meeting.

"I think the whole discussion is rather petty," said Cheryl Szady, a 22-year-old graduate student and a board member. "I think it's pretty clear cut ethically what the decision should be.

"I think alot of people have to be educated about the women who compete in intercollegiate athletics."

She said men and women put equal amounts of effort into their respective sports.

"Just because a man is stronger doesn't mean he puts in a greater effort than a woman," she said.

Nolan's Arm Lifting Reds

Bonham Helps Cubs Hold First Place

From Associated Press

Gary Nolan's found the right medicine for a bad shoulder and it's given a shot in the arm to the Cincinnati Reds' pitching staff.

"He's back and we're all tickled," said teammate Johnny Bench after catching Nolan's 6-0, two-hit shutout over the Montreal Expos Wednesday night.

Nolan, battling back from shoulder surgery that sidelined him most of last season, pitched his first shutout since 1972. Nolan's victory, his third straight, sparked visions in the Cincinnati camp of a possible return to the form of 1970, when he won 18 games and led the Reds to the National League pennant.

"This lifts everybody," said Bench. "The load's not on one or two individuals.'

the triumph was the Reds' seventh straight, tying their longest winning streak in three years.

A solo homer by Joe Morgan in the fourth inning gave Nolan, 4-3, all the support he needed.

In the other National League games, the New York Mets beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates stopped the Houston Astros 3-0; the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-6; the Chicago Cubs nipped the Atlanta Braves 5-4 and the St. Louis Cardinals stopped the San Diego Padres 6-5 in 10 innings.

Ed Kranepool's sacrifice fly off Andy Messersmith, making his first appearance ever in relief for Los Angeles, brought home the winning run in the eighth inning as New York beat the Dodgers.

Dave Parker belted a two-run homer and Ken Brett scattered nine hits as Pittsburgh whipped Houston.

"Anytime you win you've got to be happy," said Brett. "The shutout is icing on the cake."

Rookie Jerry Martin's two-run homer, his first in the majors, and a solo shot by Mike Anderson helped Philadelphia beat San Franciscolluis Melendez' two-out, bases-loaded single in the 10th inning scored Lou Brock with the winning run as St. Louis edged San Diego.

Chicago pitcher Bill Bonham scored one run and drove in another run as the Cubs outlasted Atlanta.

Bonham, 5-4, had a 5-1 lead before he left in the fifth inning when Earl Williams' bases-loaded single produced two runs and shaved Chicago's margin to 5-3.

The Cubs combed Atlanta starter Carl Morton, 5-5, for four runs in the third, opened by Bonham's scratch single, the first Chicago hit.

After a sacrifice and a walk, Rick Monday singled for one run. Bill Madlock's sacrifice fly, Andy Thornton's double and Pete LaCock's single delivered three more.

The Cubs moved ahead 5-1 in the fourth on Manny Trillo's triple and Bonham's single.

Ralph Garr's game-opening double and two infield outs gave Atlanta a run in the first. The Braves picked up a pair in the fifth on Williams' bases-loaded single and scored in the sixth on singles by Larvell Blanks and Vic Correll and Garr's sacrifice fly.

Twin Rookie Halts Tigers

Hughes Sparkles Again In 5-2 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Minnesota's Hughes is no billionaire recluse.

But the Detroit Tigers and the rest of the American League probably wouldn't mind if Jim Hughes would sequester himself in Latin America like the legendary Howard.

The young Twins pitcher has been blitzing through opposing lineups as if he doesn't know he's a rookie. Even though everyone else knows, it hasn't made any difference.

Hughes' latest gem came Wednesday night as he scattered seven hits in a 5-2 victory over the Tigers.

It was his fifth complete game in six starts and sixth consecutive triumph in a 6-1 record. His 1.43 earned-run-average going into the game was the best for a starter in the league.

Tiger Manager Ralph Houk was quick to praise Hughes, although he contended, "We hit him better than anyone this season."

"You've got to give the kid credit," Houk said. "He pitched out of jams. His palm ball is a good one. That's his whole cup of tea, that off-speed pitch."

Minnesota has won six of its last seven games — including two of three versus Detroit — while the Tigers have lost five of their last seven. They Tigers remain third in the East but have fallen four games behind leader Boston heading into tonight's sandlot benefit exhibition game at home against Cincinnati.

Minnesota, virtually tied for second in the West with Kansas City and two games behind pace-setter Oakland, is idle.

Steve Braun's two-run homer off reliever Tom Walker in the eighth inning wrapped up the outcome after an error by Ron LeFlore led to two runs in the seventh off struggling Joe Coleman.

"He didn't pitch all that bad," Houk said, echoing a familiar refrain.

Braun's homer followed a two-out error by third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez, his 12th of the season.

A single by Braun and double by Rod Carew gave the Twins a run in the third. Then in the seventh, Braun walked and center fielder LeFlore muffed Carew's liner for a two-base error. After an intentional pass, Tony Oliva rapped a two-run single.

A bases-loaded walk by Leon Roberts gave the Tigers a run in the first. They got their other on a homer by Tom Veryzer in the seventh.

"I've always had a good sinker, slider and curve," Hughes explained. "But they're all the same speed. When I got the change it helped me get guys off balance."

Illness to Twins starters forced Manager Frank Quilici to start Hughes early this season. He intended to make him the fifth man in the rotation starting in June.

"If you'd have told me in spring training I'd get off to a 6-1 start I wouldn't have believed it," said Hughes. The 23-year-old from Los Angeles spent six years in the minors before joining Minnesota near the end of last season.

"He's been brought through the minors the right way," Quilici said, "a step at a time."

Morris Selected Leamon Winner

Jim Morris, a freshman from South Haven, has been named winner of the Tom Leamon award for the best scoring average on the Lake Michigan College golf team.

The award is named in honor of Elk Hills professional Tom Leamon, who was commended by LMC President James Lehman for his support of the college and its golf program.

Sophomore Larry Henley of Benton Harbor was named the team's most improved golfer while freshman Scott Kucinsky of Coloma was cited for the best stroke average on the team's spring trip.

Colonel Owner Calls NBA 'Scared'

Mrs. Brown Pushing For 'Real' World Championship

NEW YORK (AP) — Ellie Brown is fed up with the image of crusty superiority built around the National Basketball Association. She says if the league does not accept a $1-million challenge from its junior rival, it's only because the NBA is "scared to death."

Mrs. Brown, 34, owns the Kentucky Colonels, champions of the American Basketball Association, which has offered to put up $1-million cash money for a short series between the Colonels and the NBA titleholders, the Golden State Warriors.

One day after the challenge was issued, retiring NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy rejected it with little comment. Mrs. Brown, constantly referring to Kennedy as a lame duck, said "anybody with any sense at all" would have accepted the challenge and the money.

"If someone offered you a one-million dollar challenge, wouldn't you accept it?" Mrs. Brown asked in a telephone interview Wednesday. "I think the NBA is scared to death they'd lose their prestige. They have this great image, and the only reason for it is that they're on national television."

Mrs. Brown said her team could beat Golden State and said it had to be fear of such a thing occurring that was causing the NBA not to accept the money offer, which she described as "the biggest challenge in the history of American sport."

She said the ABA's trustees would put up the money and said ABC and CBS wanted to televise such a series. She said players on both teams would be paid handsomely, with the winners naturally getting more.

Mrs. Brown is particularly disturbed with Kennedy, who retires Sunday. "It does not make sense to me that a lameduck commissioner can refuse this before he can hear the details about it," she said, calling Kennedy's decision "the most ridiculous thing I ever heard."

Mrs. Brown said she believed incoming NBA commissioner Larry O'Brien "is going to be a more sensible man to work with."

"We are sitting here today looking at championship rings," she said. "The NBA's say world champions. Ours are going to say that. But the truth is, neither of us can say that, not unless we play each other.

"The NBA might as well recognize the fact that we're here to stay and they should recognize that the No. 1 priority is the fans. They're entitled to see this."

NBA Hoping For Better Harvest In Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association was hoping that today's collegiate draft would produce somewhat better results among its top picks than it did a year ago.

Of last year's first through fifth choices, only one, center Tom Burleson of the Seattle SuperSonics, performed up to expectations in the NBA this past season.

The others — Bill Walton, Marvin Barnes, John Shumate and Bobby Jones — were of little or no use to NBA teams.

Walton, the high-priced three-time All-American and two-time Player of the Year from UCLA, was chosen by the Portland Trail Blazers. Instead of leading the Trail Blazers into the playoffs for the first time in the team's five-year history as had been expected, Walton was sidelined for most of the season with injuries and Portland didn't come close to making the playoffs.

Barnes, an All-American from Providence, didn't even play in the NBA, although he had been drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers. Instead, he signed with the Spirits of St. Louis of the rival American Basketball Association and became the ABA's Rookie of the Year.

Shumate, the All-American from Notre Dame, was signed by the NBA's Phoenix Suns, but he didn't play a single minute for the team after it was discovered before the season that he had a blood clot in his left lung.

Jones, drafted by the Houston Rockets, disdained the NBA for the ABA's Denver Nuggets and finished a close second to Barnes for Rookie of the Year honors.

After the top five, the NBA had much better luck in the first round of its draft last year. Among the players chosen was Rookie of the Year Keith Wilkes by champion Golden State. Some of the others picked in the first round who played in the NBA this past season were Scott Wedman with Kansas City, Tom Henderson and Mike Sojourner with Atlanta, Campy Russell with Cleveland, Brian Winters with Los Angeles, Al Eberhard with Detroit, Glen McDonald with Boston and Gary Brokaw with Milwaukee.

Among the top collegians in today's draft were All-Americans David Thompson of North Carolina State, Dave Meyers of UCLA and Luther "Tickey" Burden of Utah.

Also highly regarded were Marvin "The Human Eraser" Webster of Morgan State, Junior Bridgeman of Louisville, Kevin Grevey of Kentucky, Joe Meriweather of Southern Illinois, Gus Williams of Southern California, Alvan Adams of Oklahoma and Frank Oleynick of Seattle.

Burden, Adams and Oleynick were among 20 undergraduates — 18 collegians and two high school seniors — who had become eligible for the draft by being approved as hardship cases by NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

However, some of the hardship cases, including All-American Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame, withdrew before the draft.

The high school players, both seniors, were Darryle Dawkins of Maynard Evans High in Orlando, Fla. and Bill Willoughby of Dwight Morrow High in Englewood, N.J.

Almost Anybody Could Win District Baseball Playoffs

Three Twin City Teams Seeking Titles

A total of 13 area teams will participate in five district tournaments, with all five wide open with no clear-cut favorites.

Benton Harbor, Lake Michigan Catholic and Michigan Lutheran all produced upset victories last Saturday in pre-district play but now the Lakers and Titans rate as definite threats to capture their district championships.

Meanwhile, the Tigers (7-17) can't be counted out of the Portage Central Class A tourney, which has seen favorites Portage Central and Northern ousted already.

"I think we have a chance, it's up to our pitching staff," comments Benton Harbor coach Paul Wilhite. "We just picked up eight guys off our jayvee squad last week and made some mistakes in the Twin City tournament. But they've got some experience now."

Newcomers taking starting spots are freshman Jeff Phillips at third and Terry McFarland at first. Jon Hermann, the Tigers' No. 1 hurler, will take the mound against Battle Creek Central. Shortstop Rich Haney is Harbor's top hitter.

Central, which whipped St. Joe 9-0 last Saturday, has a sharp hurler in John Younglove, who limited the Bears to four hits. Tom Popovich and Mark Nicholls are the leading Battle Creek swatters.

Niles, which plays Battle Creek Lakeview at 10 a.m., has won five in a row and has a fine pitcher in Tim Gowan, who has allowed only two hits over the last 20 frames and fanned 40 during that hot stretch.

Lake Michigan and River Valley will rate a slight edge in the rugged Decatur Class C district, which features four teams with a combined 62-20 record. Both the Lakers and Mustangs have tourney experience with Lake Michigan finishing second in the state in Class C last year and Valley losing in the Class B regional finals.

Laker coach Al Nixon plans to use Bob Mattner (5-2, 2.85 ERA) against Bangor and hopefully save ace Gary Meek (8-1, 1.50) for the title game. Lake Michigan, which has won three straight district titles, has .300 sluggers in John Reinhardt (.340), Jim Etter (.324), George Welch (.323) and Meek (.320).

"I think this will be one of the toughest districts around in Class C," notes Nixon. "I think whoever wins here will have a good shot at the state title."

Bangor will likely counter with righty Mark Lull, who has allowed only three earned runs all spring.

River Valley has a powerful hitting attack led by Cary Harrington, Dave North, Jeff Jackson and Steve Rennhack, the Mustangs' No. 1 moundsman.

Michigan Lutheran surprised Lawrence in the pre-district and now has a solid shot at the Lawrence Class D district crown. "I think in baseball there is no such thing as a favorite...Lawrence had a better record than us last Saturday," offers Titan coach Elmer Dobberstein. "Oh, yes, I think we have a good chance."

Fred Krieger will carry a 3-1 mark and 47 fans in 34 innings against Galien. Bruce Morris is batting .353, Krieger .344 and Steve Hasse .302.

Galien, which finished in the basement of the Red Arrow standings, has Mike Koziel hitting .364 and Dale Luther with a 3-5 mound mark.

The Bees will probably throw Jeff Runser against Gobles. Runser, who has a 2-5 record but 2.05 ERA, also heads the team hitting with a .417 average.

The pitching talents of Walt and Kevin Vanderbush give Buchanan a thin advantage in the Brandywine Class B district. Walt is 8-2 with an 0.70 ERA and Kevin 7-3 with a 1.57 ERA. Kevin is also the main Buck batter with a .282 average.

Rod Austin (5-2) is the likely starter for Paw Paw, which has Jim Babin slugging .360.

The Brandywine district games will be played at Thomas Stadium in Niles.

Fennville has an outside chance in the Hamilton Class C district. Host Hamilton, which won the Ottawa-Kent Blue conference title, should provide the stiffest competition.

Thomas Pitches Decatur To Share Of SAC Crown

DECATUR — Kim Thomas pitched a one-hitter as Decatur wrapped up at least a share of the Southwestern Athletic Conference baseball championship by blanking Lawrence 4-0 here Wednesday afternoon.

Thomas faced just 24 batters, striking out seven and yielding only a fourth-dinning single to losing pitcher Dave Congdon as coach Jack Gleason's Raiders closed out their SAC schedule with a 10-2 record.

The loss eliminated Lawrence (8-3) from the title race, but the Tigers still will be a factor in the final standings when they take on second-place Bloomingdale (9-2) next Tuesday in the final SAC game.

A Lawrence victory in that contest would give Decatur an outright championship.

Decatur got the only run it needed Wednesday in the first inning when Kevin Haun walked, went to second on a fielder's choice and trotted home on Dan Stambeck's triple.

Mark Gale tripled in another run in the fourth inning and the Raiders closed out the scoring with two more in the sixth.

Decatur will carry an overall 15-3 record into the Class C district tournament on its home field Saturday.

TIME OUT!

"Gosh! My 58 losses in 58 fights sure sets back my goal to retire undefeated."

Gregory Powers Bangor To Third

GALESBURG — Vince Gregory chalked up three firsts and Frank Yankovich set a new meet record as Bangor finished in third place here Wednesday night in the Kalamazoo Valley Association track meet.

Parchment took first place with 74 points followed by Battle Creek Springfield 35, Bangor 34, Mattawan 25½, Galesburg 22½, Delton 22, Kalamazoo Christian 15 and Battle Creek St. Philip 14. Parchment, which had six firsts and scored points in all but two events, went through the dual season undefeated to also end as overall KVA champion.

Gregory captured first in the long jump with a leap of 20 feet, 10½ inches, won the 100 dash in 10.5 and ran anchor on the winning 440 relay team clocked in 46.2. Other 440 members were James Crawford, Tom Tripp and Yankovich. Gregory also anchored the second-place 880 relay squad timed in 1:35.0. That team also included Crawford, Tripp and David Gregory.

Yankovich broke the KVA pole vault mark with his jump of 13 feet, 6 inches, which duplicates his honor roll effort. The old record was 12 feet, 3 inches. The senior was also fifth in the shot put (42 feet, 7 inches).

Crawford also captured second in the 220 dash (23.4) and David Gregory fifth in the long jump which saw his brother take first.

Ali, Frazier To Fight In Philippines?

MANILA (AP) — World heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali wants to defend his title against contender and former champion Joe Frazier next Oct. 15 in Manila, the English language Times-Journal reported Thursday.

In its exclusive report, the daily newspaper attributed the story to Filipino fight promoter Lope Sarreal Jr., who said it will be a $10 million promotion.

American promoter Don King, who handled the Ali-Foreman title fight in Zaire last October and the forthcoming Ali-Joe Bugner title match in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, next June 30, reportedly cabled Sarreal last Monday to start the negotiations here by depositing $400,000 in escrow with an unnamed bank.

Six BH Parks Slated To Open

The Benton Harbor Area Recreation Department will be opening six parks a week ahead of schedule due to the good weather.

The six, open next week Monday thru Friday from 3 to 9 p.m., are Broadway, Edwards, Union, Hull, Franks and Robbins. All summer activities will remain as scheduled.

Methodist Wins

Al Buursma socked a home run and drove in four runs as First United Methodist beat Grace Lutheran 9-6 in a St. Joseph church league softball game.

Jim Florian also homored for the winners and Denny Soucek went 2-for-2 while Gary Coleman and Jim Mosier each had two hits for Grace.

Smith Eyeing Bigger Jump

Betters Own World Indoor Pole Vault Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Fiery Steve Smith, concentrating better than ever because of recent hypnotism, says he isn't satisfied with his latest pole vault record.

After leaping 18 feet, 5 inches at the International Track Association pro meet at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, bettering his own world indoor mark of 18-4, the 23-year-old Smith said, "I won't be satisfied until I do 19 feet. I'm sure I can jump 19 feet and I'm pretty sure I can jump 19-4. I really don't know my limit."

Smith's limit Wednesday night was 18-5. He tried three times at 18-7¾ but failed on each occasion.

Clearing that height would have shattered the world's record of 18-6½ set earlier this year by Dave Roberts. The indoor amateur record is 18-1 by Dan Ripley of San Jose State.

Earlier in the competition, the blond, bouncy Smith, a student at Long Beach State University, had cleared 18-1, bettering his Garden record of 18¼. Those two jumps over 18 feet increased to 12 the number of times he has cleared that height. No other vaulter has done it as often.

Afterwards, Smith said that he and fellow vaulter Bob Richards Jr. go for hypnotic treatments once a week in Irvine, Calif.

"He (the hypnotist) helps us put everything out of our minds," Smith said. "We can stand at the runway and you'd be surprised how high we can go. He helps us increase concentration and other events going on at the same time don't bother us."

Smith's performance earned him $4,000 — $2,000 for winning and $2,000 for breaking the record. It was the biggest payday for any athlete in the ITA's three-year history and boosted his 1974 earnings to $14,900, second behind Ben Jipcho's $21,300.

Scheffler Stars In Purdue Win

BERGAMO, Italy (AP) — Tom Scheffler's basket with about five seconds to go Wednesday gave Purdue a 78-76 victory over the Italian national B team.

The time of the winning basket was approximate because there was no visible clock in the gymnasium and the final seconds were counted aloud in Italian by timekeepers.

Bruce Parkinson was high scorer with 17 points. Scheffler finished with seven points and 10 rebounds.

Six Hurlers Shine, Nolan Ryan Bombed

Blue Blanks O's For Ninth Win; Bahnsen Tosses Sox Victory

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vida Blue, Bill Lee, Jim Hughes, Rudy May, Stan Bahnsen and Eric Raich were the American League's pitching stars Wednesday night. Nolan Ryan wasn't.

Item: Blue hurled a four-hitter and became the first nine-game winner in the majors as the Oakland A's blanked the skidding Baltimore Orioles 5-0 on home runs by Sal Bando, Billy Williams and Reggie Jackson.

Item: Lee also pitched a four-hitter as the Boston Red Sox downed the Texas Rangers 4-1 but lost his bid for a third consecutive shutout on two eighth-inning errors, one of them his own wild pickoff throw.

Item: Hughes, a rookie, scattered seven hits for his sixth straight triumph, a 5-2 victory for the Minnesota Twins over the Detroit Tigers.

Item: May survived first inning wildness and allowed six hits while Bobby Bonds hit a pair of two-run homers in the New York Yankees' 6-2 triumph over the Kansas City Royals.

Item: Bahnsen pitched his first complete game of the season, a six-hit 9-3 success for the Chicago White Sox over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Item: Raich, making his second big league appearance, worked 7⅔ strong innings as the Cleveland Indians trimmed Ryan and the California Angels 9-2. Ryan yielded seven hits and six runs in seven innings, including two-run homers by Buddy Bell and John Lowenstein.

Bell and Lowenstein cracked two-run homers off Ryan, who suffered his second straight defeat. He yielded three home runs in losing to Boston last Friday. Cleveland erupted for four runs in the seventh inning to snap a 2-2 tie.

It was the Indians' 10th straight victory at Anaheim Stadium over three years as they completed a three-game sweep of the Angels under coach Dave Garcia while their suspended manager, Frank Robinson, watched from the press box. He returns to action Friday.

Baltimore's Mike Torrez had a no-hitter until Bando socked his fourth home run of the season with one out in the sixth inning. One out later, Joe Rudi walked and Williams followed with a towering homer into the second deck in right field, his seventh. Jackson hit a two-run homer in the eighth, his ninth of the season.

Lee didn't allow a hit until Tom Grieve singled in the fifth. He ran his string of scoreless innings to 28 before Leo Cardenas singled in the eighth, went to third on an error by second baseman Doug Griffin and scored on a wild pickoff toss to first by Lee, who, ironically, has picked off seven runners this season.

Bobby Bonds hit a pair of two-run homers in support of May's pitching while Chris Chambliss and Graig Nettles added run-scoring doubles as the Yankees ended Kansas City's six-game winning streak.

Carlos May, Ken Henderson and Tony Muser drove in two runs apiece for Chicago. The White Sox piled up a 8-0 lead before George Scott tagged Bahnsen for a two-run homer in the sixth inning.

Pistons' Norwood Traded For Center

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons traded forward Willie Norwood for Phoenix Suns center Earl Williams, it was announced Wednesday.

The Pistons were last in rebounding in the National Basketball Association last season and said Williams would help boost their performance under the boards.

Williams, a rookie with the Suns last season, pulled down 456 rebounds, while playing an average of just over 13 minutes a game.

"The addition of Williams gives us great rebounding help," Piston coach Ray Scott said. "Williams would have been the third leading rebounder on the Pistons last year — almost second."

Williams, 24, played college ball at Winston Salem. In his first NBA season he averaged 4.7 points per game.

Norwood, Detroit's 6-foot-7 forward, has played with the Pistons for four seasons. He has a career average of 8.2 points per game.

The Pistons draft 27th in today's NBA draft after trading away their first choice draft pick last year in order to obtain Howard Porter from the New York Knicks. This means they will not get to pick until midway in the second round, with top stars being tagged earlier by other teams.

Pele Likes U.S. Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — "If this offer had come from West Germany, Italy, Spain or even Brazil, I would have said no. But to play in the United States will be a different principle."

So saying, Pele, the king of soccer, edged closer Wednesday to accepting an offer from the New York Cosmos to play soccer in the U.S. The Cosmos have offered him a reported $7 million, three-year contract to join the North American Soccer League club, and Pele says he is "60 to 70 per cent sure" he'll accept it.

"I will not make my decision until I return to Brazil following a personal trip I'm making to Munich," said Pele. "I will be back in Brazil Saturday night and will make my announcement to the people of Brazil on Monday."

Pele flew here from Seattle to watch the Cosmos lose 1-0 to the Vancouver Whitecaps Wednesday night.

He made his remarks at a pre-game news conference. He spoke in Portuguese and was interpreted by his personal adviser, Julio Massei.

Pele said that if he decides to play in New York it won't guarantee the club a championship.

"If I come to play with the Cosmos, if you think I can come here alone and that in one month the Cosmos will be champions, forget about it. We need teamwork and players to work with."

Hartford Hosting 100-Lap Race On Friday Night

HARTFORD — The Hartford Motor Speedway will host the Midwest Invitational 100-lap super stock race Friday night.

The first-place winner will be awarded $750 and second $500.

Time trials begin at 7:00 p.m. with the first race slated for 8 p.m.

U.S. Holding Walker Cup Lead

Campbell's Record Spoiled

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Bill Campbell, a lean and tanned grandfather from Huntington, W.Va., has a Walker Cup record not even all-time greats like Bobby Jones and Frank Stranahan can equal.

He has never yet lost a singles match in seven starts.

Until the cool of the evening of St. Andrews old course Wednesday, the veteran amateur golfer had won all six of his previous Cup singles. But an obstinate 33-year-old Scot named Ian Hutcheon and a couple of inches of lush Royal and Ancient turf spoiled that record.

Campbell halved his match to give the United States a flying start against Britain with seven wins against three with two matches halved after the first day's play.

Ed Updegraff, U.S. non-playing captain, commented urbanely afterwards "The score so far is a pleasant surprise" and added, "I wasn't anticipating this."

Equally urbane, British captain David Marsh — like Updegraff, a doctor — replied; "Relief" when asked how he felt.

He pointed out the score was only fractionally worse than at this stage of the last Walker Cup meeting at Brookline, Mass., two years ago. The Americans won that 14-10.

Campbell, who first played in the Walker Cup back in 1951, was surrounded by other admiring veterans when he came off the last green after ruefully watching a magnificent 18-foot putt stop just short of the pin.

Campbell commented: "That was a pity, wasn't it? But it's great playing here again and the Walker Cup hasn't changed a bit in the past 24 years. It's still a great show."

For most of the round over the 6,194-yard links Campbell strolled through like a master, collecting on the outward nine three birdies — two in a row — for a two-under-par 34, the lowest of the day.

But the last three holes saw the persistent Scot come back from two down and a bad short putt on the 17th stopped Campbell from clinching the match then for his seventh Walker Cup win.

The United States goes into the second and final day needing only five points from the 12 matches — four foursomes and eight singles — to score its 22nd victory of the traditional series. Britain has won the Cup only twice, and once the series was halved.

The last British victory was here at St. Andrews four years ago, when the U.S. lost by 11 matches to 13.

Jerry Pate, 21-year-old U.S. Amateur champion from Pensacola, Fla., and Dick Siderowf of Westport, Conn., were the unlucky ones in the U.S. team Wednesday.

In the singles, James beat Pate 2 and 1 while Siderowf, after a classic battle with Pat Mulcare, a virtually unknown Irishman, lost by the same score.

Like Campbell, Curtis Strange of Virginia Beach, Va., halved his match.

SPORTSMANSHIP WINNERS: Winners of sportsmanship awards at South Haven high school were announced last night during annual all-sports program. Miss Jan Holmes presents girls sportsmanship award to Carol Stieve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stieve, 12th avenue, South Haven while Dale Patterson awards boys sportsmanship honor to Mike Sweet (middle), son of Mrs. Vera Kellogg, route 5, South Haven and Dan Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sherman, Phoenix road, South Haven. Award for outstanding female sportsman was initiated this year by the South Haven ladies golf league while boys award originated in 1949. Sherman competed in football, basketball and baseball; Sweet in football and basketball; and Miss Stieve in girl's track and cheerleading. (Tom Renner photo)

Louisiana State Basketball Coach Called For 'Foul'

GONZALES, La. (AP) — Louisiana State University basketball Coach Dale Brown was arrested for allegedly interfering with a police officer when his assistant coach was stopped for a speeding violation, the Ascension Parish sheriff's office said.

Brown was reportedly a passenger in a car being driven by his assistant coach Arthur Tollis, when deputies stopped them for speeding.

Sheriff Harold Tridico said his deputies used a loudspeaker to ask the driver to step out of the car. Tollis got out, and Brown got out at the same time.

Brown refused to get back into the car, even after deputies repeated the request several times, Tridico said.

Brown was released on cash bond, and Tollis received a citation for speeding, the sheriff said.

The incident occured on U.S. 61 south of Sorrento early Saturday morning, he said.

Fish Help Rare Shell Collectors

GREENVILLE, Del. (AP) — Some of the world's rarest seashells come from the bellies of fish.

Enterprising collectors are finding the most-prized specimens by catching and opening shell-eating fish in South Africa, the Philippines and Brazil, according to Dr. R. Tucker Abbott, a conchologist — shell scientist — at the new Delaware Museum of Natural History.

SAYS HE'S NO REBOZO

Pal Shares Fun With Ford

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — President Ford calls him a close friend, and associates of Leon Parma quickly dismiss thoughts that he may be something more.

Parma says he and his friend of 15 years "share a lot in common and we spend time together.

"I'm not unique by any means," the 48-year-old aerospace executive said recently. "He has more friends around the country than any man I know."

The tanned, almost pudgy Parma is increasingly with Ford, a steady golfing partner during California vacations and visits, but the Californian's friends deny he is Ford's counterpart to Richard Nixon's presidential confidant, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The interests shared by Ford and Parma range from football — Parma was a star quarterback at San Diego State University in 1948-51 — and golf to the Episcopal church, Republican politics and the Navy, in which both served during World War II.

Parma is increasingly invited to top-level talks, but the questions asked of him by Ford deal with California and Californians, not national affairs.

"Certainly the discussions aren't about his office," Parma says of his private conversations with Ford. "And I make it a point of excusing myself when I know he has reading or briefings to do.

"I think it's good for him to have somone totally out of government, someone to talk about the weather, informal casual interests."

As administrative assistant to Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., Parma became a close friend of the Fords when the future 38th U.S. Chief Executive was a young Michigan congressman.

When Parma heard Ford was making a speech in California in 1962, he invited him to play golf in Palm Springs.

"We played a few rounds of golf and we both enjoyed it," Parma recalls. His wife, Barbara, and Betty Ford "got along well, too."

Both families began a tradition of sharing their Easter vacations in Palm Springs. In their ninth such visit last April, the Parmas were the first family's guests in a rented $355,000 home at Palm Springs' Thunderbird Estates.

Last year, they shared the Christmas holidays on the ski slopes of Vail, Colo., and when Ford took his oath of office Parma and his wife were in the East Room of the White House.

Mrs. Parma's grandfather, Judge John Guthrie McCallum, founded Palm Springs, and Parma himself is a fourth-generation Californian born in nearby Riverside.

In the record books at San Diego State, he is listed for the most pass completions by a quarterback and the most yardage gained.

Still, Parma regrets he never finished law school. After college, he worked briefly for the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce and, after being the congressman' aide, became a contracts manager for Ryan Aeronautical. He is management representative today of that firm which a half-century ago built the "Spirit of St. Louis" plane which carried Charles Lindbergh to Paris.

The Parmas live in La Jolla, San Diego's most fashionable section, where Leon is president of the Bishop's School for Girls and board chairman of La Jolla Bank & Trust.

The Parmas have three daughters: Mrs. Roy D. Clark of San Diego; Patricia, a 19year-old college student, and Julie, 16, and a son Michael, 14.

When Jack Ford or another member of the nation's First Family is in Southern California, the Parmas are usually on hand.

Has Ford changed over 16 years? Not at all, Parma says.

"He's the same man today as when we first met," he says. "Our relationship is no different. He's a very warm, outgoing, informal man. He's always had deep humility."

Parma says their Palm Springs vacation this year "was far different than the last nine.

"I always had respect for the complexities of the presidency, what I thought were the demands," he said. "But after spending nine days with the President and the First Lady in the same house, I realized I never appreciated those demands fully.

"The responsibilities are awesome and never ending. He didn't leave the White House behind him. With the communications these days, he brought it with him.

"He started briefings around 8:30 a.m. He was always on the telephone. The staff was there."

About public comments concerning Ford's time golfing, Parma says: "I don't begrudge him the four hours he was on the golf course. There were 20 other hours in the day. I'd say he spent as much time on work (in Palm Springs) as he did in the White House when we were back there in February."

"His pattern, as I've seen it develop, seems to be to concentrate for three months or so, then take a week off ... He needs that. I saw his strength develop from the day of his arrival at Vail."

Eau Claire Youngsters In Cleanup

EAU CLAIRE — Second through fifth graders of the Lybrook elementary school here will be conducting a cleanup in and around the school area today and Friday!

The students will be picking up litter on Main street, Lions and Elizabeth parks, and cleaning up yards for the elderly within walking distance from the school. Those interested in having their yards cleaned have been asked to contact the school for arrangements.

Also, the fifth grade class will plant $325 worth of shrubbery it has purchased through a class project around the elementary school building, according to a school spokesman.

TODAY In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 29, the 149th day of 1975. There are 216 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1453, the capital of the Byzantine Empire, Constantinople, was captured by the Turks. The date is listed by some historians as the end of the Middle Ages.

On this date —

In 1736, the American patriot, Patrick Henry, was born in Hanover County, Va.

In 1790, Rhode Island ratified the U.S. Constitution, completing approval by all of the 13 originial colonies.

In 1848, Wisconsin joined the Union as the 30th state.

In 1917, the 35th American president, John Kennedy, was born in Brookline, Mass.

In 1943, the Americans defeated the Japanese in the Pacific War Battle of Attu in the Aleutians.

In 1970, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike was sworn in as Prime Minister of Ceylon.

Five years ago: Pope Paul VI announced that he would visit the Philippines and Australia.

One year ago: Israel and Syria agreed to an accord to

Thought for today: If some died and others did not, death would be a terrible affliction. — La Bruyere, French moralist, 1645-1696.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that the Second Continental Congress, meeting in Philadelphia, invited Canada to join the American colonies for the purpose of self defense.

Unemployment In U.P. Dips

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — The unemployment rate for the Upper Peninsula in April was 13.4 per cent, down three-tenths of 1 per cent from March, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reports.

Can Dog Keep Boy From Delinquency?

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The University of Minnesota is asking for $35,000 to determine whether giving a boy a canine companion will help him from going to the dogs.

Or, in the langugage used by the university's Community Health Care Center in its application for funds to the Governor's Crime Commission:

"The major objective of the project is to assess the extent to which early education via the use of pets, in empathy, responsibility and regard for behavioral consequences are instrumental in deterring potentially delinquent 9-year-old boys from committing delinquent acts."

The plan is to find 60 of these 9-year-olds who appear headed for trouble and divide them into two groups, one with dogs and the other without.

The boys in the dog group would participate in an "intensive care training communication program with their pets," including obedience training and field trips.

After nine months, children in the two groups would be compared to see who was staying out of trouble. A continuous check would be kept on the youngsters until they are 16 years old.

Alaska Court Okays Private Pot Possession

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The Alaska Supreme Court has legalized possession of marijuana for private use in the home.

In a 5-0 ruling handed down Tuesday, the court became the first in the nation to legalize some aspect of marijuana use, saying that "mere scientific doubts" about the medical effects of marijuana do not justify government intrusions into the home.

Ali Denies Libel; Files Countersuit

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali has filed a $3.5 million countersuit against referee Tony Perez, who earlier had sued the boxer for libel.

Perez filed his suit after Ali reportedly accused Perez of favoring his opponent during his successful defense of his title against Chuck Wepner in Cleveland March 24.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Extends Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices headed lower today, extending the declines of the last two sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down about a point shortly after the opening bell and declines took an early lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Many analysts see the market's declines this week as part of a profit taking correction from this spring's historic rally. Some of the selling on Wednesday was also due to the President's decision to increase the tax on foreign oil — a step most analysts considered inflationary.

On the plus side, the government's index of leading economic indicators for April, released today, showed a record 4.2 per cent jump for the month. It was the second month in a row that the index, designed to indicate the direction of the economy, has posted an increase after 11 months of declines.

The index was recently revamped to discount the effects of inflation on the figures. This is the first month of the new inflation-adjusted series.

Some early prices on the Big Board were Pacific Gas & Electric, unchanged at 20 and Libby McNeill, unchanged at 8⅛. International Telephone & Telegraph slipped ⅝ to 23⅛ and American Standard lost ⅛ to 12.

On Wednesday, losses in high-priced glamour and blue chip issues led the market to a decline. The Dow fell 9.07 to 817.04 in the heaviest trading in almost two weeks.

Pair Offers To Purchase Joshua Doore

DETROIT (AP) — Two managers of a small furniture chain have offered as much as $1 million to take over bankrupt Joshua Doore, Inc.

The new offer is being considered by an 11-member committee of creditors, which also has two other offers. The committee is to appear Friday before U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Harry Hackett and may reveal a decision at that time.

The two managers, along with other investors, said they would pay at least $850,000 for the Doore furniture inventory, and as much as $1 million. They also said they plan to keep three Doore stores in operation.

Another offer, also for $850,000, has been received from Harry Victor, a principal in the Doore firm who also plans to try to keep Doore in business.

Ross Furniture Warehouse, a Genesee County firm, has offered from $900,000 to $1.2 million and would liquidate the assets.

Doore, which offers customers same-day, take-home furniture, filed for bankruptcy in late March.

Fruehauf Corp. Will Spend $2.5 Million

DETROIT (AP) — Fruehauf Corp. will spend $2.5 million to expand and modernize its Military Products plant in Delphos, Ohio, company officials announced Wednesday.

The program, already under way, includes both new building construction and installation of additional production equipment.

The plant produces vehicles for the armed forces as well as trucking parts and components for other Fruehauf assembly plants.

MALPRACTICE CRISIS—LONG-TERM SOLUTIONS?

What might be among the long-term solutions to the malpractice crisis which has erupted across the land — threatening to undermine our nation's medical structure, endanger many lives and add to the relentless spiral in our health care costs?

One point is sure: the please-nobody "solutions" put together by the legislatures in New York, Indiana, Maryland, North Dakota, Idaho, Illinois, Nevada and Hawaii are merely hurried efforts in the direction of answers. More significant are such suggested measures as these:

— A system of penalties against lawyers and claimants for starting unfounded law suits and also a reduction in contingency fees which lawyers agree to accept in payment for their services (the contingency fee is an agreed-upon share of the award, if any). Proposed by the New York Bar Assn.

— A combined underwriting association which would offer malpractice insurance at "only" double the amounts doctors are now paying — plus mandatory arbitration, strict limits on jury awards and "no fault" malpractice insurance along the lines of workers compensation. Proposed by the insurance industry in New York state.

— Immunizing doctors via a new state law from civil liability charges anywhere in the U.S., IF a doctor performs according to the standards now being set by the "Professional Standards Review Organizations" (PSRO's), mandated under the 1972 amendments to the Social Security Act. Proposed by the New York State Medical Society.

— Requiring physicians to review the quality of their peers' work (as the law mandates) so that the medical profession would police itself by establishing standards against which performance could be measured, valid criticism could be leveled and incompetents could be barred from practice.

— Legal limits on malpractice awards, compulsory arbitration and "mediation panels" consisting of one judge, one lawyer, one physician already provided for under a '74 New York law. Conspicuously absent: patient representatives. Also proposed by the New York State Medical Society.

— Requiring patients who are to undergo surgery to sign agreements pledging that they will not sue — before the surgeon will agree to operate. This, though, might be a "contract struck under duress" which is no contract at all, critics charge.

Equally if not more promising — although far less obvious — are recommendations submitted in 1973 of the Commission on Malpractice Insurance, appointed by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot Richardson in 1971.

— Developing ways to make distinctions between real negligence which does occur and poor medical results which can happen despite careful medical practice.

— Using special arbitration panels for small claims, with the panels including non-medical, non-legal people.

— Expanding the authority of state medical licensing bodies to suspend or revoke the licenses of incompetent physicians — and instituting open discipline hearings.

— Encouraging state or federal laws that would require periodic re-licensing of doctors and other medical personnel, plus formal programs for continuing medical education.

— Developing specific standards for informing patients (or family members) of the risks of various medical procedures, so patients can give or not give their "informed consent."

— Developing strong (not token) public participation in all aspects of medical decision-making — state licensing and de-licensing of practitioners, arbitration and mediation panels, peer review mechanisms, grievance procedures, hospital boards. In the commission's words: doctors should not be "the sole judges of the effects of their professional performance on laymen."

— Establishing an Office of Consumer Health Affairs in each state and a legally-backed system of guaranteeing basic rights for the receivers of health care.

— Asking medical societies to exercise "maximum moral suasion over physicians who avoid professional responsibilities on the basis of fear of malpractice liability."

— Encouraging the use of properly supervised allied health care personnel — technicians and registered nurses — who have not been significantly involved in malpractice problems.

Democrats Want Equal TV Time

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislative Democrats want equal television time with Republican Gov. William Milliken, who airs a monthly question-and-answer program on six Michigan TV stations.

The stations reportedly are considering the equal time request from House Speaker Bobby Crim and Senate majority leader William Fitzgerald.

The two Democratic leaders cited the Federal Communication Commission's fairness doctrine in letters to the stations.

"The problems confronting this state can only be resolved through compromise and agreement between the executive and legislative branches and it is only fair to both sides of the issues that citizens can have a thorough understanding of the problems and proposed solutions," the letter said.

Precendents have been established at the national level where Democratic Congressional leaders have responded to presidential pronouncements from the Republican White House, said Stanley Fedewa, Crim's executive secretary.

A Milliken media aide said politics are avoided on Milliken's "Michigan Forum." Said Al Saunders, "It's a public service, not politics. The questions haven't been political, but citizen matters — taxation, where does the lottery money go?".

Participant stations feed three or four video-taped questions from residents of their area to the originating station in Grand Rapids. Producers select questions and Milliken doesn't know what they will be until the taping," Sandner said.

The stations are Grand Rapids' Channel 8, Flint's Channel 12, Marquette's Channel 6, Lansing's Channel 6, Traverse City's Channel 7 and Cheboygan's Channel 4.

'Buy' Offer Extended At Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Hoskins Manufacturing Company announced Tuesday it has extended its offer to purchase shares of common stock of RSC Industries, Inc., until July 8.

RSC is a Hialeah, Fla.,-based manufacturer of wire cabling.

The Hoskins offer is to purchase the shares for $2 each. RSC has approximately 3,450,000 shares outstanding.

As of Tuesday, about 14 per cent of the outstanding shares of RSC had been tendered to Hoskins.

APPOINTED

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Irene B. Prophater of Bay City has been appointed to the Michigan Women's Commission, Gov. William Milliken announced Wednesday. The appointment to a term expiring July 15, 1976, is subject to Senate confirmation.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

New Retirement Act Questions Answered

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I work for a company which has no qualified pension program. In addition, I run a small business on the side. I invest 15 per cent of these self-employed earnings under the Keogh plan. May I also invest 15 per cent of my company salary (up to $1,500 a year) under the new Individual Retirement plan?

A. No. The Keogh and the IRA programs are mutually exclusive. If you have one, you can't also have the other.

IRA DEDUCTION?

Q. My employer does not have a formal pension program, but we do share in profits through a qualified profit-sharing pain. May I also take an IRA program deduction?

A. No. Participation in any qualified pension, profit-sharing or stock bonus plan would rule out an IRA program.

CAN'T HAVE BOTH

Q. I work for a tax-exempt charitable organization and my employer contributes to a tax-sheltered annuity on my behalf. This is the only retirement program provided. May I establish an IRA?

A. No If an employee is covered under a tax-sheltered annuity, he may not have an IRA.

IRA AGE LIMIT

Q. What are the age limits for IRA?

A. You may begin contributing at any age up to 70½, at which time contributions must stop and distributions begin.

IRA INVESTMENTS

Q. How may IRA funds be invested ?

A. There are three basic ways to invest IRA funds:

(a) an individual retirement account with a bank, generally, the trustee or custodian. The funds could be put into a savings account or invested in securities. No life insurance may be purchased;

(b) in an individual retirement annuity or endowment contract;

(c) in retirement bonds issued by the Federal government through Federal Reserve Banks.

WHO CAN BE TRUSTEE

Q. Who can be a trustee under an IRA plan?

A. Banks, savings and loan associations, Federally insured credit unions or any person who can show IRA that be can administer the trust in accordance with the law.

PARTICIPANT DEFINED

Q. I've read that a wage earner who is not an "Active participant" under his company's qualified pension plan may qualify under IRA. Does this mean an employee who does not contribute to his company's Pension plan?

A. No. It makes no difference whether the pension plan is contributory or whether the employer alone contributes the entire amount.

An employee is not an "active participant" where, for example, a pension plan requires a three-year waiting period before the employee can join the pension program. The employee may invest in an IRA during the three-year period. Of course, if the pension plan is contributory and the employee stays out of the plan because he doesn't want to make the required contribution, he could establish an IRA.

USE LONG FORM

Q. I am making a contribution under an individual retirement account. Will I be able to make the deduction for 1975 on From 1040A (the short form)?

A. Form 1040 rather than Form 1040A should be used, since the latter has no provisions for deductions.

Michael Guilty Of Bail Jumping

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jerry Dean Michael, who posed as a female car promoter, has been convicted on a 14-year-old bail-jumping charge in a counterfeiting case.

Michael, who wore a blue-and-white pants suit and a pink sweater in court when the jury reached the verdict Wednesday, will be sentenced on June 16. He could get up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

BEARD: On front burner with Julia.

A Billion Dollars Comes Through Loud And Clear

Q: With Christina Onassis now so rich, is her ex-husband, California realtor Joseph Bolker, cursing his luck? — D.A., Frederick, Md.

A: No, he's pretty philosophical about it all. He says they're still good friends and that Christina really wanted only a quiet domestic life. But Ari wanted Greek grandchildren. And, Bolker adds, never underestimate the power of a billion dollars.

A: Freddie is still available. Aretha didn't want that picture taken, because she was afraid of giving her friend Pam the wrong impression. But Prinze said he hadn't heard from Pam in weeks and didn't even know her phone number. So Aretha let the photographer snap away.

Q: I heard there's a terrible feud going on between those two cooking authorities James Beard and Julia Child. Is that true? — J.P.G., Sarasota, Fla.

A: You heard wrong! As a matter of fact, Julia Child and James Beard are not only great friends, they are about to become television's newest dynamic duo. Beard and Child are preparing a bicentennial cooking series for NET based on recipes from the original 13 colonies. Get your bow and arrow ready!

PEOPLE
By Robin Adams Sloan

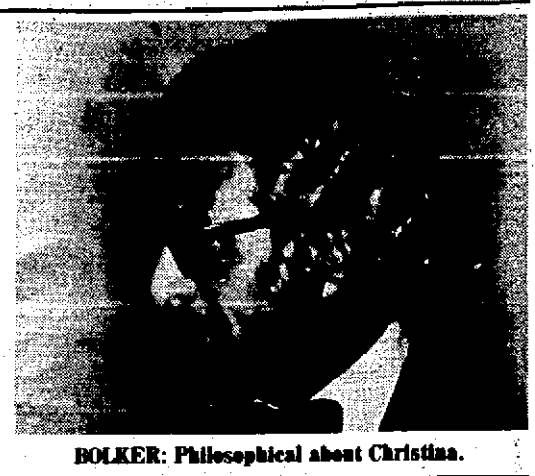
QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why does actor John Carradine's "Kung Fu" son David get all the publicity? Aren't there other famous Carradines? Yes, indeed, there's Keith — David's brother — who has a starring role in Paramount's "Nashville," in which he plays a rock star. Keith wrote three of the songs himself.

Q: Why am I always reading about young John John Kennedy sticking his tongue out at photographers? Is this parental training or bad manners? — H.P., Odessa, Tex.

A: These pranks seem to be John John's idea of fun. Recently, at a diplomatic reception in Moscow, he pinched his cousin Maria so hard she cried out in pain. The kids were visiting Russia with Sargent Shriver, Maria's father.

Q: Watching the mad scramble out of Saigon I was wondering if there is a Washington evacuation plan in case of a nuclear threat? — K.W., Arlington, Va.

A: The Air Force is fitting out some Boeing 747's to fly the President and top officials out of the capital in case of such a horrifying emergency. The huge planes, sometimes called "Doomsday Flight Machines," would also serve as airborne command posts from which U.S. retaliatory measures could be directed. There are also helicopters at Andrews Air Force Base standing by just in case.



BOLKER: Philosophical about Christina.

'Star Trek' To Have Competition

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Space: 1999" is a new syndicated TV series about an international group of earthlings adrift in space. Next September, they'll try to lock on to "Star Trek" fans in more than 100 U.S. cities.

That's the word from Abe Mandell, head of Independent Television Corp., which is distributing the made - in - England, tailored - for - America science fiction series here.

He says the one-hour show is trying to attract the large, loyal and vocal clan of sci-fi buffs who still devotedly watch reruns of "Star Trek," which NBC canceled in 1969 after three seasons on the air.

"We're not going into this blind," Mandell says. "We've got $6.5 million invested in the show. We did a lot of research and it proved to us that out there in television land, all over the world, is a vast cadre of science fiction nuts. They love the stuff, right?

"Now 'Star Trek' has done phenomenally well. The old reruns are still tops in their time period. But it's getting a little tired and running out of gas.

"Space: 1999" stars the husband - and - wife team of Martin Landau and Barbara Bain from the old "Mission Impossible" series and Barry Morse, the detective who used to chase David Janssen in "The Fugitive."

They head the gang at Moonbase Alpha, built on the moon as an early-warning unit against the earth's potential enemies from other planets. The base runs on atomic power, which of course creates atomic waste.

In 1999, the waste goes blam, blasting the moon out of earth's orbit and into space. (This creates problems, particularly for songwriters who must now find something new to rhyme with June and croon.)

The series is made by ITC's parent company, London-based Associated Television Corp. Mandell says 24 episodes have been filmed, the last in January, at a cost of $275,000 each.

He said the program, scheduled for world-wide release in September, has been sold in 101 U.S. markets so far, and hopes are high another 49 stations will have bought it by mid-July.

All but three of the 101 stations that have signed up are network affiliates, he said, and claimed that at least 85 per cent of those affiliates may air the show in prime evening time next fall.

He said they've told him they plan to pre-empt what they consider their network's weakest series in the so-called "family viewing" hour and show "Space: 1999".

Mandell, who calls the new series "truly a network-budgeted, network-quality show," said ITC initially took it to all three networks but rang up three no-sales and had to go the syndicated route.

However, he says he expects it to be such a hit next season that a network will be forced to buy it for 1976-77.

"We're going to have to do it the hard way, but I'm going to prove the networks wrong this time," he said.

LEVI'S WESTERN SHIRT-JAC
The Levi's® Jacket. You'd swear was a Western shirt.

Levi's took a traditional Western shirt, complete with front and back yokes. They cut it trim, so you can wear it tucked in if you want.

But then they finished off the bottom edge so you can wear it jacket-style too. And made it up in blue denim and brushed cotton to team with Levi's Jeans for a Western look that's sleek enough for town.
